

FIRE CHIEFS WELCOMED IN EASTBAY

"Oakland Day" Brings 700 from Session of Golden Jubilee Convention in S. F.; Are Met by Officials

Auto Ride Through City and Tour of Skyline Boulevard Followed by Outdoor Luncheon and Reception

Oakland entertained the smoke-eaters today. They arrived this morning seven hundred strong, in fact seven hundred and sixty-seven strong, and they represent the fire fighters of hamlets, villages, towns, cities and metropolises here and abroad. The occasion of the visit is the Golden Jubilee convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers now in session in San Francisco, and today was set aside by the delegates as "Oakland Day."

Early this morning the firemen, accompanied by their wives and sweethearts, arrived on a special Southern Pacific ferryboat at First and Broadway and were officially welcomed by fire chiefs of the East-bay district and city officials of Oakland.

Followed then a ride through the city in automobiles, a luncheon served at a hotel at Idora Park, and this afternoon a ride at the Greek theater, in Berkeley, where a house was burned up and the use of gas masks explained and demonstrated.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY BY FULL PROGRAM

The program of events was so full that the firemen were kept rushing at a high rate of speed from one affair to another enjoying as much excitement as they would have at a "burner" in their native communities.

Heading the list of visitors was Frank G. Reynolds, president of the International Association. Reynolds hails from Augusta, Georgia, and was emphatic in his announcements today that Oakland does not need to learn from the South the tenets of true hospitality.

In other words Reynolds, boss smoke eater of all Christendom, has a good time in Oakland and is coming back again.

In addition to the official welcoming committee, including Fire Chiefs Sam Short of Oakland, Walter Steinmetz of Alameda, Sidney Rose of Berkeley, Mayor John L. Davis, Commissioner Frank Colburn and others, there was an unofficial set of greeters at the dock this morning.

The citizenry turned out en masse to cheer the oncoming legion of fire fighters who were tendered a gala reception as they walked off the apron of the ferry boat onto terra firma to the martial airs of a military march played by the Oakland Fireman's band, who journeyed to San Francisco to meet the delegates.

TOUR OF CITY FIRST ENJOYED.

After an informal reception the delegates, with the various samples of feminine pulchritude accompanying them, were bundled into waiting automobiles and taken on a tour of the city. The tour included the business district, the residential district, and then the Skyline boulevard.

Here half a mile or so above the city the firemen were given a chance to view Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and the surrounding territory, while the various points of interest were shown and explained to them by the guides provided from the ranks of the local department.

Expressions of amazement and delight at the scenic beauties of the community were the order of the day and found voice in various exclamations, exclamations and exclamations in the language of firemen who are "getting a kick" out of something.

After they had viewed the natural beauties of the city the party adjourned to the local amusement park, where they were formally presented with the keys of the institution and instructions to avail themselves of everything in sight.

The luncheon provided by the Eastbay departments was informal. The only addresses made were those of welcome by the reception committee and brief responses by the notables among the visitors.

This afternoon was devoted to the interests of the city of Berkeley. Here the party went under the sponsorship of Chief Sidney Rose and his aggregation of fire extinguishers who saw to it that the visitors did not miss any of the sights.

After a tour of the city and the residential sections on the hills surrounding, the party moved en masse to the Greek Theater, where entertainment of a spectacular and unusual kind was provided.

The feature of the Greek Theater program was an address by Dean H. Probert of the college of Mines at Harvard.

DEMPSEY LABOR DAY FIGHT OFF

Governor of Indiana Tells Sheriff to Stop Bout With Brennan

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 16.—(By Associated Press.)—Gov. McCray of Indiana after announcing today that he had prepared a letter directing the sheriff of LaPorte county to forbid the staging of the Dempsey-Brennan fight at Michigan City, decided to defer sending the letter. It is understood, however, that local officials will act to prevent the match. The letter will go forward in case the officials in LaPorte county wait to take action.

PRIZE FIGHT NOT BOXING, RULING.

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, will not meet Bill Brennan in a title bout at Michigan City on Labor Day, Governor Warren T. McCray decreed today.

Acting upon an opinion rendered by the state attorney general, the governor declared the encounter would not be a boxing exhibition, but a prize fight, and as such is in violation of the laws of the state of Indiana.

SHERIFF WILL NOT STOP FIGHT, HE SAYS.

LA PORTE, Ind., Aug. 16.—(By International News Service.)—Despite Governor McCray's decree against the Dempsey-Brennan fight, the match will be staged, declared Sheriff William Antstoe of this county.

"My understanding with Governor McCray," said Antstoe, "is that I would not permit any fight for a decision by the referee to be staged in Michigan City."

The governor's decree, according to local official interpretation, does not prohibit a boxing exhibition and the Dempsey-Brennan fight will be staged only as such.

SHOUSE NOT SLAIN FOR HIS MONEY

Investigation of Murder Leads to Clues Showing Man Was Killed in Emeryville, Carried to Albany

Mystery Woman Turns Out to Be Mrs. S. Terry, Whose Husband Is Sought For Part in Alleged Boozing Ring

Despite the fact that operatives of the sheriff's office are inclined to advance a robbery theory for the murder of Edwin A. ("Deacon") Shouse, whose body was found Saturday night in Albany, District Attorney Ezra W. Devoto announced late today that he was confident that robbery was not the motive for the crime.

The district attorney's belief was upheld by Marshal John Glavinovich of Albany, who has been constantly investigating the case since the murder was discovered.

Police detectives and federal agents, working on the case, also scout the robbery motive. Today it became known for the first time that the ignition system of Shouse's automobile, which was located one night before the reputed bootlegger and roadhouse proprietor's body was discovered, was locked. The car was found at Dwight Way and Warring Street, Berkeley. This leads detectives to believe that after Shouse was slain, his murderers carried the body to the lonely spot where it was abandoned and then drove to Berkeley, where they left the automobile.

BELIEVE SHOUSE WAS SLAIN IN EMERYVILLE.

Investigators are seeking to discover as near as possible the place where the murder was committed. Late today they expressed the belief that Shouse was killed some place in Emeryville.

Today's important developments in the murder case are as follows: Identification of the "mystery woman" who Sunday telephoned Mrs. Shouse and asked for her husband.

The fact that Shouse had promised the "mystery woman" who is under federal grand jury indictment, to be her chief alibi witness in court.

The disclosure that Shouse was to have met a young woman, a nurse, on the night he was murdered.

Examination by police of several well known gamblers of Emeryville, who are suspected of knowing something of Shouse's death.

WAS TO BE ALIBI BOOZE WITNESS

Shouse was to have been the star witness for Mrs. S. Terry, now under federal grand jury indictment in connection with the recent Monterey rum smuggling episode.

It was this deal which officers declare that Shouse "tipped off" to federal agents, and which resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Terry and her husband, Selby Terry, who is now a fugitive from justice, and is wanted by Sheriff Barnett for questioning regarding the murder.

Mrs. Terry is also the "mystery woman" who late Sunday called Mrs. Shouse by telephone and inquired for Shouse, it was learned today.

CAPTURED BY SLAYERS WHEN HE LEFT AUTO.

Belief that Shouse was murdered or captured by his slayers just as he stepped from his automobile which was parked at Dwight Way and Warring Street, Berkeley, was expressed by police today, following the discovery of an additional clue.

It was made known today that Shouse had an appointment Thursday night to meet a woman known as Adol Fisher. Miss Fisher, according to the police, was a nurse. When Shouse failed to keep the appointment with her Thursday night she left the city for Seattle, according to Captain of Detectives Petersen, and is not involved in the case.

ADULTS CALLING SHOUSE ON PHONE.

Mrs. Terry today admitted frankly that she was the woman who called Mrs. Shouse by telephone and that she knew Shouse, and that he was to have been a witness for her in her case.

Shouse was to have aided her in establishing an alibi to prove that she was at her home and not at Monterey or with her husband on the night of the raid.

That night, she said, the night when officers believe Shouse notified the federal men of the booze shipments—Shouse called her up on the telephone.

Later, she said, after her husband fled the country, and she was indicted by the federal grand jury in connection with the booze smuggling deal, Shouse came to her, left his card, and said that he would be glad to testify that he spoke to her on the telephone at her home on the night of the raid. When he called up that night, according to Mrs. Terry, he asked for Terry.

GIANTS' PITCHER OUSTED BY LANDIS

"Shufflin'" Phil Douglas Is Permanently Banned for Game Plot

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 16.—"Shufflin'" Phil Douglas, noted baseball player, was today forever ruled out of organized baseball by Judge K. M. Landis. Douglas is charged with conspiring with other players on other teams to throw games, according to an announcement made by Judge Landis, President Heydler of the National League and Landis are here today making an investigation.

Judge Landis in his announcement declared Douglas had been placed on the "permanent ineligibility" list.

Douglas is one of the star pitchers of the New York Giants and has been connected with the Gotham team for some time. With Douglas gone for good, New York's pennant chances were materially decreased.

Judge Landis refused to go into details or amplify his single statement that Douglas had been placed on the "permanent ineligibility" list.

Masked and armed the bandits entered the company's yard shortly after 3:30 this morning. They found Manuel Terry, Edward Churchill and F. Beatty, drivers, preparing to start of their milk routes, and these they bound and gagged and placed in an outhouse. Tony Lopez, a washer, was also seized and placed with the others. These were the only employees at the place at the time.

The bandits fired two shots at Beatty when he was slow about throwing up his hands, but neither shot struck him.

The four masked men then "blew" the company's safe with nitro-glycerine, after covering it with wet sacks.

The charge was so heavy that it demolished a large portion of the dairy building.

There was only $7 in the safe at the time, and this money the robbers pocketed. Company officials declared today that they believe the bandits had thought today was the company's payday and had expected to make a large haul.

The robbers departed in an automobile within a few seconds after the explosion, according to the four employees, whom they left bound and gagged.

M. Bryant, 84 East Santa Clara avenue, witnessed the holdup from his front porch of his home across the street. He said he had been attracted by the sound of the two shots fired at Beatty and had gone to his front door armed with his life. After the robbers had gone away he telephoned the police.

The bandits, who were unable to find any rope with which to tie their four victims, cut up harness which they found in the stable and bound them with the strips of leather.

Four Masked Men Blow Safe of S. J. Dairy After Binding, Gaging Employees; Building Badly Damaged

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 16.—R. W. Leake of South Taft and Charles Ross of Hollywood were shot and killed by two hold-up men at a railroad crossing in Taft at 11 o'clock last night when they refused to throw up their hands.

Leake was instantly killed by a bullet through the heart and Ross died a short time later at the Mercy hospital, Taft. He was shot twice. Both were elderly men.

The shooting occurred at the Fourth street railroad crossing as the two men were on their way home from a theater. The bandits are thought to have escaped in an automobile. Police throughout the valley were notified and the entire sheriff's force of Kern county hurried to the oil fields to aid in the chase.

One of the bandits was described as being tall, weighing probably 155 pounds, while the other was described as short, weighing probably 150 pounds.

Big 4 Leaders Draft Rail Peace Offer; Congress Will Act on Strike Tomorrow

TRAINMEN PROPOSE COMPROMISE PLANS IN SENIORITY FIGHT

Brotherhoods Would Divide Ranking Into Three Classes, With Old Men First and Returned Strikers Next

HARDING BUSY ON MESSAGE TO SOLONS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—A plan for adjustment of the railroad strike is understood to have been worked out here at a lengthy conference today between the heads of the sixteen standard railroad unions. It will be taken to New York this afternoon by chiefs of the four brotherhoods and presented to the railway executives in tomorrow's joint conference.

Whatever the plan agreed upon, it was a closely guarded secret. There is reason to believe, however, that the discussion tomorrow will hinge about the original proposition advanced some weeks ago, dividing seniority into three classes:

- 1—Old men to rank first.
- 2—Returned strikers to rank second.
- 3—New men to rank according to their length of service, the question of whether the strikers will have first place to be left to an impartial tribunal.

MAJORITY OF OFFICIALS WILLING TO ACCEPT.

It is known that a majority of the executives would be willing to accept such a program, although some of the "die hards" would oppose it.

Hopes for a settlement of the railroad strike by mutual agreement between the railroad executives and the strikers themselves were running high in Washington today as President Harding began the preparation of a message to Congress dealing with the grave situation.

President Harding's message to Congress, it was understood today, will embrace virtually the following:

- 1—The President will tell Congress "the whole story," winding up with the Arizona deserts, where train crews abandoned trains at desert terminal points.
- 2—He will recount every step taken by the government to end the strike by peaceful means and give the reason for their failure.
- 3—He will then figuratively "wash his hands" of the whole situation and inform Congress that the government has reached the end of its rope in trying to establish peace.
- 4—He will affirm the government's intention of affording protection to those railroads able to maintain service, by troops if necessary, and for those roads unable to fulfill their public obligations he will suggest other measures—probably federal receivership.

THREAT OF SEIZURE LOOMS IN BACKGROUND.

Looming in the background of the President's message is a final alternative should these steps fail to maintain transportation—government seizure—but it was undecided today whether this threat should be given a place in tomorrow's communication. Whether it is there or not, administration officials asserted today, it is ever present as the government's final alternative.

The weight of a presidential message coming on top of a presidential order that the safety rules affecting locomotives must be enforced, is expected to have a sobering effect upon both the "die hard" executives and the "hard boiled" leaders among the striking railroad workers.

"We are taking steps and will be compelled to continue to proceed in a manner which must bring about serious withdrawals of motive power from service," said C. C. McChord, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in a letter to the President.

The President's reply was a direct order to the Interstate Commerce Commission to "diminish service rather than attempt to move trains on which safety is not assured."

Western Pacific Only Road in Bay District Without Service; Plans to Start Overland Train Tomorrow

Fruit Rushed East As Lines Lift Embargoes; Southern Pacific Company Accepts All Classes of Freight

The Western Pacific today remained the only railroad in this section still crippled by the refusal of "Big Four" brotherhood men to operate trains. Plans were made early yesterday to start an overland train from the Western Pacific Oakland terminal, but the tentative arrangements were abandoned during the afternoon. It was announced, however, that the company probably would dispatch an eastbound train at 9:15 tomorrow morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The Southern Pacific Company announced today itself ready to handle all traffic. Settlement of the road's troubles with the "Big Four" rail brotherhoods made it possible for the road to accept all classes of freight. Approximately 500 cars of fruit moved through Roseville.

OMAHA, Aug. 16.—Four of the Union Pacific's crack transcontinental trains were annihilated today by an order from President Carl Gray's office, here, because of inability of western lines to handle traffic west of Omaha.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Belief that the crisis in the western rail strike situation has passed was expressed by many railroad men and shippers today.

Lifting of the embargo on fruit, livestock and perishables by the Southern Pacific operation of passenger trains over the Santa Fe and announcements by the Union Pacific and Western Pacific that they expected to move trains within 24 hours, were the reassuring features of the day.

Brotherhood leaders at several points were working with the railway officials in an effort to bring conditions back to normal.

Reports to federal authorities failed to record any major instances of violence or disturbance for more than forty-eight hours.

Las Vegas, Nev., and several points along the Santa Fe in Arizona were reported to be the critical zones as far as the pinch of food shortage and lack of communication was concerned. Las Vegas last night sent an automobile messenger to Los Angeles to bring in food for children there—the local drug store having run out of anything that would provide for "baby food" newspapers and mail were to be brought back, none having been received since last Saturday.

ALL NIGHT PARLEYES HELD AT LAS VEGAS

Railroad executives, brotherhood leaders, city, state and county officials at Las Vegas, Nev., were in conference most of the night attempting to settle the troubles on the Union Pacific, which have tied up that line since Saturday.

The first train since Saturday arrived during the night from Los Angeles, consisting of an engine, one car and a caboose, with N. A. Williams, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific; L. M. Snowby and T. J. Gleason representing the brotherhoods, as passengers. They joined the conference.

William O'Rourke, representing the conductors' brotherhood, arrived later on a track inspector's "speeder" from California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Approximately $15,000,000 worth of fruit, which California growers had feared would be a complete loss, was either on its way to eastern markets today or was being packed in readiness to move as a result of an almost complete clearing up of the critical rail situation on the Pacific Coast, brought about by widespread walkouts of "big four" brotherhood trainmen. Packing houses which had shut down because of curtailment of fruit shipments reopened today, picking crews returned to the orchards and the whole industry which yesterday faced disaster was keyed up to a high pitch as a result of favorable prospects in the rail situation.

Fleets of the fruit growers were slowly being instrumental in sending back to their cab members of the "big four" brotherhoods together with concessions from the railroad companies with regard to the share

TWELVE PERISH AS FIRE SWEEPS ORPHANS' HOME

Fire in Jewish Institution Traps 10 Children, Man and Woman

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEADED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SHAWBRIDGE, Que., Aug. 16.—Ten children and a man and a woman were burned to death early today in a fire which totally destroyed the Jewish Boys' Home here.

The dead: Thomas Lacroix, caretaker; his wife, Jean Lacroix; Marie Lacroix, 10; eight orphans, ranging in age from 6 to 16.

Collapse of the building where the victims were trapped helplessly threw the young into darkness by destroying a local lighting plant and added to the horror, as rescuers fought vainly to aid the children. Only the fact that a majority of the orphans slept out of doors prevented their perishing in the holocaust.

Twelve bodies were recovered but some could not be identified today.

They were cut off by fire and smoke and many children were saved in thrilling rescues, being lowered from the third floor by ropes made from blankets and sheets knotted together.

As the glare of the fire died, dense blackness closed in as there were no road lights near the scene. The only illumination was that of the firemen's lanterns and the glow from the embers, and in this gloom, just before dawn, the rescue children were checked up in an effort to ascertain how many perished.

Industrial Belt Will Get More Gas

In order to care for the increased demand for gas in the rapidly growing industrial belt west of San Pablo avenue, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is shortly to begin the reconstruction of its gas distribution system in that section of Oakland and Emeryville, according to announcement made by the Chamber of Commerce today. This work will afford a more abundant supply for such large industrial consumers as the Coast Die Casting, Western Aluminum Products Company, Virden Packing Company, Marchant Calculating Company, American Coin Register Company, Western Electric Company and will also provide a supply of high pressure gas for the Tract, where several large industrial plants are underway.

MINISTERS GET CREDIT FOR ALL OF KING'S WORDS

LONDON, July 28.—(Associated Press by Mail).—So many of King George's speeches are taken for him by ministers, that he is never credited for the good speeches he thinks up himself. People always say: "The speech was all right, but some one else wrote it for him."

This is not always true. In everything that relates to affairs of state he speaks only through the mouths of his responsible ministers, and the "speech from the throne," delivered when Parliament shuts doors is far from a thrilling production. And it is not lost.

But King George made a really good address the other day in London at the opening of the new building of the London County Council. He dwelt upon the wisdom of the men of past ages in erecting fine buildings in their cities, and drew a picture of the necessity of the vested authority being adequately housed.

An authority, it was pointed out, would be meanly esteemed. It would be difficult to emphasize too strongly the importance of efficient local government to the general well-being of the country, the King said, and the handsome edifice of the London County Council should stimulate the development of that sense of citizenship so difficult and yet so imperative to cultivate.

The King's speech was widely reported in this country, and it has been most favorably commented upon, nevertheless he is getting little credit for it. The world thinks it is the product of some minister whose mouthpiece was King George.

ELOPING PASTOR JAILED AS THIEF

MALESTER, Okla., Aug. 16.—The Rev. J. C. Trotter, pastor of the Methodist church, South of Haverly, Okla., who eloped last week with Miss Audrey Campbell, nurse, after ending his wife and three children to Chattanooga, Tenn., was arraigned here yesterday on a charge of embezzlement of approximately $3200 from Brooks Institute, a hospital and community house at Haverly, Okla. Trotter was financial secretary of the institute.

Miss Campbell admitted her relations with the minister and told the county attorney that her love for Trotter was so strong that she intended to stick with him to the end. She was released on bond shortly after she was brought here by officers.

acter of guards employed and the nature of equipment used.

The resumption of traffic will not fully offset the loss to the state's fruit growers. Various authorities place the loss in the five-day tieup at from $15,000,000 to $35,000,000. Eastern consumers will undoubtedly pay heavily for the tieup in increased prices because of the shortage that will exist for days in eastern markets. The heaviest loss will be on fruit which has ripened too fully for shipment.

"DANGEROUS PERIOD" LAST IN SOUTH STATE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—The "dangerous period" of the Big Four walkout in the Southwest was believed by railway officials to be past early today and announced that the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Southern Railway attempts would be made immediately to put into effect improved and enlarged schedules of freight and passenger service.

The Santa Fe expected to move four transcontinental trains today, two into Los Angeles from the East and two out of this city to Chicago and all purchasers of tickets were to be promised they would reach their destination.

The Southern Pacific reported its passenger trains were operating on schedule and freight was being moved.

Santa Fe officials said they regarded Needles, Calif., and Seligman, Ariz., as the "danger points" on that system.

Federal officials said there were no developments in the situation so far as they were concerned.

Two hundred more marooned passengers were brought here late yesterday and another train was expected late today or tonight.

John Dannon, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, was on the way to Los Angeles from Kansas City today, according to an announcement from an authoritative source.

Kansas Troops Sent To Railroad Center

TORPEKA, Kan., Aug. 16.—(By International News Service.)—Troops arrived today in Horton, Kan., for strike duty. It was announced at the office of Governor Henry H. Horton that he has been in a turbulent state for ten days. Workers brought in by the Rock Island railroad have been harassed, it has been charged.

Presence of troops was necessitated, it was said, by the intention of the Rock Island to put men to work in the shops at Horton this afternoon. The governor shifted the station to the town of Horton.

New System Drawn For Roseville Guards

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—In an effort to smooth out some of the difficulties responsible for recent strike troubles at Roseville, an important meeting was held here today by the federal government, charged with the task of preserving the peace. U. S. Circuit Judge W. W. Morrow, U. S. Attorney John P. Williams, U. S. Marshal James Holohan, and representatives of the Clark & Honey Construction Company met in the federal building.

It was decided that hereafter the United States deputy marshals on duty at Roseville shall guard the outside of buildings and be on duty entirely in the open. The staff will withdraw its own armed guards, either placing them inside buildings or dismissing them altogether.

Two agents of the department of justice go to Roseville today to aid in keeping the peace.

I. W. W. Linked to Strike by Daugherty

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Attorney General Daugherty declared yesterday that reports had come to the Department of Justice indicating that I. W. W. were going active in connection with the railway strikes.

The attorney general added that there was no detailed information in the hands of the department, but he was satisfied from the general information received that a relation existed between the strikes and activities of the I. W. W.

"There are indications," said Daugherty, "that the I. W. W. are very willing to take over some of the responsibility of railway transportation and even the government itself in the West."

Johnson Asks Aid Of Harding in Tieup

FRESNO, Aug. 16.—Taking up the cause of the imperiled fruit grower of the San Joaquin Valley, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who was in Fresno last night, wired President Warren G. Harding, reminding the chief executive that delay in strike settlement meant millions of dollars of loss to California. He urged the President to bend every effort toward bringing about an immediate settlement.

Congressman H. E. Barber of Fresno asked a postscript of the Senator's dispatch, seconding the appeal.

Indian Maidens Spurn City Life; Caught in Park

Four Platte Indian girls who became tired of the city life and have been missing for the past week are in the Detention home.

The girls, with 54 others, were brought to this city from Nevada to be educated. They did not like the daily routine of their new life. On Sunday, when they all met at the Young Women's Christian Association they decided to follow the customs of their ancestors.

When the girls failed to report at the various homes where they are working they were reported missing to the police by Mrs. B. Royce, government Indian matron.

Early this morning Policeman George R. Morrison found two of the girls, Ethel Jones, 14, and Louis Stevens, 15, underneath a clump of brush in Lakeview park. The girls told the officers that they had been sleeping in the park since they ran away from the homes in which they were employed.

The other two girls, Norma Wasson and Aileen Reynas, were taken into custody by Mrs. Royce at 506 Walsworth street while they were visiting their cousins.

ARBuckle SETS SAIL FROM S. F. ON WORLD TOUR

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Firmly insisting that his plans for the future were entirely indefinite, Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle sailed from San Francisco today for a trip. It was the first lap of a circuit which will take him to far lands. He is scheduled to leave for the Orient, the Malay Peninsula, the Straits Settlements, Egypt and probably Paris—designated that he might rest and forget the experiences of the last year, which included his trial here on charges of taking the life of Virginia Ramez.

"I need a rest and intend to take it easy and, at the same time, see some other parts of the world," Arbuckle declared.

"I'll come back to the United States in due time and then will be my opportunity to decide what I'm going to do."

"It's entirely up to the people—the people who see the movies and who used to be—and I think, again will be—my friends, whether I return to the screen or not."

"Maybe I'll get back to making comedies, but I don't know. San Francisco doesn't make me feel very funny and I can't say right now."

"Maybe I'll go into the business as a runner."

"But I don't know and I am not going to discuss what my future will be."

Members of Arbuckle's "party," which included Milton Cohen, his attorney, and Harry Brand, his secretary, indicated that Arbuckle may branch out as a producer with Joseph Schenck, his former manager. Schenck and Norma Tallman, who is Schenck's wife, will join Arbuckle in Egypt, Arbuckle expects and they may plan screen productions with an Egyptian background.

COUPLE MARRY AMID TUMULT OF CHARIVARI

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 16.—Amid the crash of tin cans and the hoots and catcalls of a large percentage of the juvenile population of McKinley Hill, Mildred Knudsen and LeRoyette Jones were married last night. Although the police interfered three times, the charivari might have been called at least a partial success.

The affair took on some aspects of an inter-family war, with several older people "egging on" the youths and exchanging words of a stinging quality with those participating in the wedding ceremony. No one was badly injured, although one youth was felled and a policeman was staggered by a flying rock.

A gang of boys had forced the windows of the house in an effort to break in, when Detective J. Robert Teale, answering the third riot call, made his appearance and was hit on the head by a rock.

Threats of Suicide Win Wife Divorce

That a broken spring in a pistol was the only thing that prevented her husband from taking his life, and that his frequent threats of suicide made her a nervous wreck, was the testimony of Mrs. Philena G. Frederick, upon which she was granted a divorce today from W. F. Frederick. Mr. Frederick lives at 670 Walsworth street.

HURT IN CAR CRASH

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Andrew Xirra, 18 years old, of 424 Ninth avenue, was thrown through the windshield of a machine in a collision at Fourteenth and Mission streets today. He was riding with L. W. Jutson of 835 Howard street, when the latter collided with another car. Xirra suffered lacerations of the cheek and neck and was treated at the central emergency hospital.

FIGHT LOOMS AS $1,000,000 BELL WILL IS OPENED

Percentage of Five 'Children' Denied by Widow of Picturesque Figure

What promises to be the final and bitter chapter in the story of the late Thomas Bell, picturesque pioneer, millionaire, and owner of the famous "House of Mystery" at Post and Geary streets, San Francisco, was opened yesterday when the will of his widow, Mrs. Teresa Bell, disposing of an estate estimated at approximately $1,000,000 was read. The funeral of Mrs. Bell was held yesterday morning from a private funeral chapel across the bay. The will was opened in the law office of E. C. Talbot, where it has lain for a dozen years.

Denial that the five men and women who have called her "mother" were her own children was made in the document, which bequeathed them each $5. They are Eustace Bell, Lakeshore avenue, Mrs. Robina Bell Hessel, 1063 "Val" avenue, T. F. Bell of San Francisco; Reginald Bell, a banker of Tulare, and Mrs. Muriel Bell, hostess of Hollister. The name of "Mammy Pleasant," who has figured in the history of the Bell family, was introduced into the unique document drawn by the testatrix herself, the widow accusing her of obtaining vast sums of money under false pretenses from both herself and late husband. She asserts that Mammy Pleasant's statements as to the percentage of the five children was "a mass of lies" but does not divulge the identity of their parents. "They are no relation to me" she declares.

STATE MAY GET $700,000

After making bequests to a few friends, retainers and charities, Mrs. Bell does what the residue of the estate be divided equally among her cousins if any are living, and if not, then to the State of California. In this way she disposes of property estimated at approximately $700,000. One-third of the estate is given to orphan asylums and old people's homes in San Francisco, "share and share alike, without regard to creed, Catholic, Protestant, Jewish."

Estimate Jameson of Oakland is bequeathed $1000. Her sister Bell is given a similar amount. Others who will benefit under the will are: Blanche Greffert, $3000; her husband, Ed Greffert, $3000; "Blind" Billy Tomlinson, an employee on the Bell ranch, $2000; county, $1000; Mrs. Southern, a neighbor on Bemis street, $500; Mrs. Dyer, another neighbor, $500; Ellen Callen of Callen, $1000; Winnie Herle, Portland, Ore., $1000; Joe Herle, $1000; Ione Sargent Santa Rosa, $15,000.

Each executor is bequeathed $3000. They are attorneys T. Z. Diakemian and E. J. Talbot, and James M. Wilkins, owner of the Savoy hotel and former owner of the Bell ranch.

CONTEST EXPECTED

The will is dated June 7, 1910. A codicil was added on September 12, 1913. It is pinned on double page letter paper pinned together, on the cover of which is an original engraving resembling the style of Omar Khayyam. The writer directs that all her property, real and personal, be sold to the best advantage.

Prediction is made that the surviving Bell heirs will immediately direct legal action to set aside the will.

Trainmen Give Cash To Local Strikers

Assurance of powerful financial support was today received at Oakland headquarters of the striking railway shop men from the Big Four Railway Brotherhoods of the Eastbay region.

According to S. McAdam of the Federated Shopmen, the Big Four have informed the Oakland shopmen that they will contribute a minimum of $2000 per month to the striking shop workers in this section. This minimum, it is stated, will be far exceeded by voluntary contributions of brotherhood members.

Workmen Beaten in Kidnaping Attempt

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 16.—Following an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap two car repairers at the city Northern railroad shops at Hilliard, near here, last night, a colored shop worker was beaten and rendered unconscious by two men believed to be the same who attacked the car repairers, it was announced today by railroad officials. The attackers escaped.

BOY GETS TOO NEAR BATTERY

"Why, Robert! Whatever will I do to you! That is the suit I had planned for you to wear to school all fall and winter. You surely have ruined it now. All those holes. What have you been doing? Tell me at once."

"Well, mother, I was down to the battery shop at the corner watching the man open one of those batteries like we have in our car. The thing slipped and splashed something that looked like water all over me."

"Water, nothing! Water don't make holes in clothes."

"Well, the man said something about acid, so maybe that's what it was."

"Yes, I guess so. Good, strong acid, too. Your clothes are ruined and school only a few days away. Can we afford a new suit now?"

"Well, Jimmie's mother got him a new suit at Cherry's at 528 13th street where you don't have to pay all cash at once, only a little down, and then so much a month."

"Yes, I have heard that Cherry's have very good values in boys' clothing, so we'll go there for your new suit."

Cherry's store for women is at 515 13th street.—Advertisement.

Four Arrested For Disturbing Peace

ALAMEDA, Aug. 16.—Policemen broke up a party at the quarters of Mrs. Marie Meyer, 3272 Enclave avenue, last night. They arrested Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. H. R. Lamps, 426 Jefferson street, Oakland, D. F. Baker, a bartender of the same address, and Chester Perkins, 1323 Pearl street. According to the police the members of the party had all been drinking and the two women engaged in a fight. The men were lodged in the city jail, while the women were taken to the Oakland jail. All four will appear before Police Judge L. R. Weinmann on a charge of disturbing the peace.

TARIFF ON OIL URGED AS CURB ON MONOPOLY

Senator Harrell Declares 3 Big Concerns Now Regulate Prices

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Tariff duties on crude petroleum and fuel oil were advocated today in the senate by Senator Harrell, Republican, Oklahoma, as the only means of protecting the independent oil producers of the United States against what he described as a monopoly by the Standard, El Doheny and Royal Dutch Shell oil companies.

Renewing his charge of last August that the Standard, Doheny and Royal Shell companies were seeking to monopolize oil production in this country, Senator Harrell said that since that time the Royal Dutch Shell had taken over the Union Oil company of Delaware, thus getting control of 175,000,000 worth of properties; that the Standard and Doheny companies had acquired the Teapot Dome in Wyoming and other valuable holdings in California, and that the Standard of Indiana had acquired 99 per cent of the stock of the Mid-west Refinery company.

The Oklahoma senator also asserted that "during the past year when oil prices were low the monopolists succeeded in purchasing the holdings of a great many independent operators at practically forced sales and at a very small percentage of the value of such properties."

Charging that the three companies he named had a monopoly of production of oil in Mexico, Harrell said the senate it was their policy to charge all that the tariff would bear, and that consequently the price would not be affected by a tariff. He argued that on the other hand the tariff would bring to the government a huge amount of revenue and at the same time protect the thousands of small independent producers in the United States.

Harrell said the fact that the representatives of the companies had not appeared before the finance committee to oppose the proposed rates on petroleum and fuel oil "shows how completely and shamelessly these people operated."

STRIKE IS CONDEMNED.
BERKELEY, Aug. 16.—"Wasteful to the extreme" and "savoring of L. W. Wism" is the manner in which the present railroad strike is characterized in resolutions of condemnation adopted at the last meeting of the Berkeley Defense Corps.

Announcement At Elaborate Luncheon

The beautifully appointed luncheon for half a hundred of the debutante and younger married group at which Miss Flora Edwards presided as hostess this afternoon was the medium for the announcement of the betrothal of the hostess to John Wayne Higson of Postville, Idaho. Baskets of delphinium, pink roses and gladiolas graced the long tables in the dining hall and library, the setting for the interesting affair.

The motif for the affair was Miss Elizabeth Allard, bride-elect of Thomas Brown of Los Angeles, who returned from the south yesterday. Miss Edwards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Frederic Edwards of Harrison boulevard.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Miss Ransome's school in Piedmont, later of Miss Bennett's in New York, and is one of the attractive debutantes of the past season.

Her fiancé is a son of Alfred Royal Higson of Idaho, and was graduated with the class of '21, University of California. Besides being a leader in football and other athletics on the campus he is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Skull and Keys, Big C, Winged Helmet and Beta. Beta honor societies. Plans will not be made for the wedding until next year.

Places were set for Miss Elizabeth Allard, Miss Dorothy Grissom, Miss Elizabeth Koser, Miss Lorene Kinney, Miss Marion Lyman, Miss Janet Knox, Miss Elizabeth Roder, Miss Helen Randolph, Miss Hope Somerset, Miss Kiltie Fletcher, Miss Virginia MacFarland, Miss Cornelia MacFarland, Miss Carolyn Rodolph, Miss Elizabeth Moore, Miss Vera Lewis, Miss Katherine Armstrong, Miss Katherine Maxwell, Miss Mary Kennedy, Miss Laura Miller, Miss Heatherly Brittain, Miss Elizabeth Mages, Miss Claire Knight, Miss Winifred Brown, Miss Elva Ghirardelli, and Mrs. Irvin Woodward, Mrs. Malcolm McClure, Mrs. Harold Jean Hayre, Mrs. Frank Moller, Mrs. Fitzgerald McCall, Mrs. Harrison Small, Mrs. Edward Fannon, Mrs. Harry Hush Mages, Mrs. Jack Okell, Mrs. Salem Camillo Pohlman, Mrs. Monroe Greenwood, Mrs. Edward Von Adelung Jr., Mrs. Ward Dawson, Mrs. George Grant, Mrs. Rose Mahon, Mrs. James Hamilton Todd Jr.

CRASH OF WORLD IN NEW WAR TOLD TO ADVENTISTS

Elder Arthur G. Daniels of Washington, D. C., world lecturer and traveler, and for more than twenty years president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, in an address at the Adventist convention in session here, declared that the gospel of Christ and the law of God in the hearts of men is the only solution to the present world conditions that he states are causing leaders to tremble and people to fear.

Using as the base of his talk the topic, "The World Situation as We Face It Tonight, and How to Meet That Situation Triumphantly," Elder Daniels spoke of the various signs which he stated indicated that more trouble was ahead, that nations were preparing for a more terrible war than the one recently brought to a close, and that international machines and other contrivances were being perfected for the slaughter of innocent women and children in defenseless cities.

"If the world would accept the only remedy adequate to meet the situation," declared Elder Daniels, "the gospel that Jesus brought into this world and abide by it, the millennium would dawn tomorrow." "Not another gun would be needed," he continued, "not another war would come. We would no longer need a single jail nor a policeman, nor a court of justice and trial. The gospel of Jesus Christ when it lays hold of a man's heart lifts him above all these things and fits him for the society of angels and to live a right life among men."

The annual Northern California Convention of the Seventh-day Adventists is being held at the huge tent city at East Sixteenth street and Fruitvale avenue, where an evangelistic and educational program is being carried on. Various important business matters of the denomination are to be under discussion during the time of the convention.

So again we announce new and lower prices on every model in the Nash line, and this proves, as nothing else could prove, the truthfulness of the statement that "Nash Leads the World in Motor Car Value."

The Woman of Poise,

Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life, the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women? Advertisement.

WATER, POWER ACT DANGERS ARE TOLD BY SPEAKER

Colonel Marshall Declares Few Realize Significance of Provisions.

Special to THE TRIBUNE.
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Acts of the State Railroad Commission may be reviewed, but those of the water board, under the proposed amendment asking the people of California to vote $500,000,000 for local irrigation and power projects are final, was one of the declarations of Colonel R. B. Marshall, speaking before the Ad Club of Sacramento.

The speaker warned his hearers that if the proposed measure is adopted it becomes a part of the state constitution and if found too burdensome, as he feared it will be, or impracticable in being unable to grant the demands of several communities, can be amended only with difficulty.

Although this measure is one of the most momentous ever placed before the citizens of any state, the people, in the opinion of the colonel, are not giving it the attention which its importance demands. One of the dangers will be the effect on property values in many parts of California on account of the uncertainty through the power of eminent domain granted the water board under the act, which says the determination of the board is conclusive evidence the property is needed in its operations. The only recourse the owner has is to fight in the courts for an award.

For the building of water and power projects from Oregon to Mexico, the people are asked to vote bonds for $500,000,000. In addition the act grants the board the right to engage in farming.

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try May's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhs mucous from the stomach tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Advertisement.

Schools of City Combed in Hunt For Blackboards

Nearly the entire personnel of the school department is searching for the three blackboards lent to the department twenty-one years ago by J. C. Gilson, a retired school teacher, who at the time was principal of the Longfellow school.

Gilson asked Monday afternoon for the return of his blackboards, in a letter to the Board of Education. Business Manager Don Rice today admitted that the search conducted by himself has been a failure. He has asked all persons connected with the schools to aid in the city-wide search for the missing boards.

The question is raised that maybe the blackboards have gone into the discard long since. Perhaps they outlived their usefulness years ago, admits Rice. Efficiency men and statisticians of the school department have failed to the conclusion that, if the blackboards have been in constant service for twenty-one years, some 3,942,501 pieces of chalk would have been used up in marking on them. Besides this the friction of the chalk on the boards during twenty-one years would have worn them down to the thickness of a dime said to be the fact, dime earned by a certain leading citizen in a certain small town.

An anonymous letter received by the school department this evening may prove the solution of the grave affair. The letter, written in a fine old-style hand, read as follows:

"May I not suggest that it would be much cheaper to buy three new blackboards for Mr. Gilson than to waste the time of school department employees in searching for three ancient blackboards which may have fallen to pieces through old age?"

GARAGE FOREMAN KILLED

NTLES, Aug. 16.—Joe Mendosa, employee of Rose garage here, has been taken to the Columbia Hospital in San Jose suffering from typhoid fever.

FIVE TO SPEND MONEY.

How far will the money go? He asked. This board, said the colonel, will be the most powerful body in California. If the measure is adopted, five men will be named, for whom no special qualifications are required, to expend half a billion dollars without any plan for the use of the water somewhere or at some time. No restrictions are placed on the board for the drawing of large amounts from the state treasury which must be returned at the next tax levy.

"If this measure is adopted at the next election," Colonel Marshall said, "private capital, so much needed for the development of our resources, will not come to California."

SUIT INVOLVES TRUST FUND OF BRYANT'S SON

Action Against Holding Co. Leaves Legal Points to Be Decided

A suit involving a trust fund given his wife for the support of their son, and in which some intricate legal points must be decided, was heard today by Superior Judge J. S. Kotord when testimony was taken in an action brought by Blinn S. Bryant, former wealthy Oakland resident, against the Mercantile Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Parthenia D. Bryant, deceased.

It appears from the complaint that Bryant and his wife disagreed during their married life and separated. At that time he decided to her the family home in the Claremont district and a large garage on Claremont avenue. At the same time $3,282 was settled upon Mrs. Bryant, and she signed an agreement that she would support John Dukehart Bryant, minor son of the couple, and that the property settlement was in full of all claims which she and the son might have against the father.

The custody of the child was awarded the mother, who, it is alleged, removed him from the jurisdiction of the court, taking him to Portland. Bryant charges that she failed to live up to her agreement to support the boy, and that as a result he was sued in the Oregon courts, the child, through its guardian, securing a judgment against him for $10,000. A habeas corpus proceeding in the case is now pending on appeal in the Supreme Court of Oregon affecting the case.

Mrs. Bryant died and in her will left her entire estate, amounting to several thousand dollars, to her sister, Sara Dukehart, of Portland. This included the property in Claremont placed in the mother's trust by Bryant for the child.

The present action is directed against the trust company as administrator of the wife's estate, and Bryant is seeking to recover the $10,000 which was secured as judgment against him, holding that under the agreement the mother, or in case of her death, her estate, is liable, rather than the father, who was freed of obligation through the property agreement.

Attorney Walter Christie of San Francisco, representing Bryant in the case, was the chief witness for the plaintiff today. The father is unable to take the stand in his own behalf because of the law which prevents the claimant against an estate giving evidence in support of his claim.

EBEY GETS LONG LEASE ON FULTON

Coincident with the announcement that George Ebey has obtained a fifteen-year lease on the Fulton Theater in San Francisco are the word from the theater offices that two companies now appearing at the Columbia Theater in San Francisco are to be brought here intact.

The plays are "Just Suppose" with Mrs. Thomas Whiffen which comes from the Henry Miller Theater in New York where Mrs. Whiffen started in it and "Little Old New York" the Sam H. Harris production with Isobelle Love, Creighton Hale and other notables. "Just Suppose" opens at the Fulton August 27 and "Little Old New York" follows.

Mrs. Whiffen is perhaps the best known "grand dame" on the American stage. She will be supported by an excellent company according to the announcement, and Miss Love will remain at the theater after the starring engagement for a period of eight weeks. Hale is known on the dramatic stage as well as the screen.

During her engagement at the Fulton Miss Love, a former Shubert star who appeared in "The Teaser," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and other vehicles, will be featured at the local theater in "Experience," "Seventeen," "Scandal," "Best of the West," "Three Wise Fools," "Forever After," "The Night Cap," "The Six-Fifty," "The Varying Shore," "The Girls," "Sonora," "The Dancer," "The Teaser," "Dear Max," "Nice People" and other New York hits.

According to Ebey the theater will be redecorated and returned to the coming season and the orchestra will be augmented. Wallace Hawthorn will continue as musical director. Other features of the new regime will be dancing spectacles, prologues and scenic affairs of an unusual sort in connection with the dramatic productions.

Christie, having been identified with the various phases of the case for several years past, is therefore called upon to give the necessary evidence to support the claim.

J. F. Shuman of San Francisco and Hugh Montgomery of Portland appear for the defendant.

Easy Divorce Laws Scored By Bishop

In an attempt to bring about a higher regard for the marriage vows and stating that he believes Christianity and good citizenship alike demand a higher regard for marriage, Bishop William T. Manning of New York, who is in San Francisco en route to the Episcopal general convention at Portland, states that he will take an active part in an endeavor to place the ban of canon law on the remarriage of divorced persons.

The divorce evil might be given a serious blow, according to the contention of Bishop Manning, by the creation of a uniform federal law, placing all states under a similar higher standard. An attack on the present case in obtaining divorces is also to be made and plans discussed to make young people understand the seriousness and sacredness of the marriage vows.

Pythians to Hold Three-Day Bazaar

Mayor Davis, Sheriff Barnett and District Attorney Ezra Decoto will take part in the "Frontier Days in Volcano," to be given as part of the three-day carnival and bazaar by the Alameda County Knights of Pythias Lodges, according to the announcement made today by D. H. Wyckoff, chairman of the committee in charge. The affair will be held in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium and will be preceded by a parade at 10 o'clock.

The opening night will be August 31 and the affair will be brought to an end on September 2. The proceeds will be used in the fund for the Pythian Orphans Home.

Soviets Trade Coal For Italian Wares

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—An agreement for the export of Russian coal has been signed by the Soviet representative at Milan with an Italian company.

By it the Soviet government has undertaken to deliver in Italy 200,000 tons of coal from the Don basin and 30,000 tons of mineral oil, while the Italian company has agreed to supply the Soviet government with railroad rolling stock, other railroad materials, installation for coal mines, and agricultural machinery. The Italian company agrees to make its shipments before receiving the Russian coal and oil. Another clause of the agreement provides for the increase of the amount of coal to be exported to the Italian company by mutual agreement. The agreement is to become operative within five months from the date of signing.

THREE MINUTE TALES

AD SCHUSTER

IN THE second day of Bill Carney's vacation he locked the door of the rear room in the apartment building he called home, pulled a sword-rattling story of Dumas from his shelf and settled down for an afternoon of romance. He had hoped his two weeks of freedom from office work would be filled with adventure and had set off buoyantly in pursuit.

"It is no use looking for romance outside the story books," Bill decided. "Here in New York," and he looked out at the backs of other buildings, ranged side by side like many-storied blocks, "we have a grocery store on one corner and a drugstore on the next. We scoot for the subway or the elevated, grab our papers on the run and read all about the startling things which make the country folk gasp. There isn't a chance to get on the inside of a big adventure. And a man can be lonelier here than anywhere in the world."

Excited motions in a window opposite attracted the lad's wandering attention. A large man with long hair and a heavy black moustache was throwing his arms about in anger and exasperation.

"Somebody's catching it now," thought Bill. The man knocked over a chair and walked back and forth and all the time he talked. "It was as if he were threatening someone and spurring himself with words to the point of violent action. He was a bluffer, Bill decided, and would work out his fury in dramatics. The object of the man's denunciations moved in front of the window and Bill saw a slender, auburn-haired girl. She looked pale and frightened and yet, when given the opportunity she answered her tormenter with even a finer show of gestures.

FREQUENTLY Bill saw them, the ranting middle-aged man and the girl who stood her ground and waved her tiny fists. He made up a story about them. They could not be father and daughter, he decided, for there was no resemblance. It was more likely the girl had married this man. Bill pitied her and found himself wishing he could do something.

One afternoon the man stormed with more violence than ever and Bill thought the woman was going to break down. He saw her throw her hands in the air and fall. Triumphant the man stood with folded arms looking down toward the floor where the girl, Bill felt, was lying.

Twice Bill started for his door only to return to the window. He had heard of men mixing in family quarrels before. He thought of telephoning to recall his name and wondered if he should notify the police.

The woman was standing by the window now and the man was out of sight. She moved away and came back, walking with a quick and nervous step. Once she tugged at the window which would not open. She wrung her hands in distress and glanced about wildly. Bill wondered where the man was and what had happened. Had she tried to jump out of the window? If she had shot this man, he thought as he pressed his face against his window, he would tell how the fellow had taunted her. The woman saw him.

STARING across the court, each pale and tense behind his pane of glass, the two stood a moment. Fashioning her words with her lips, she spoke slowly that he might read their meaning. "Help!" she was saying, and she motioned back into the room.

Bill made his way to the other

NEW GEYSER IN YELLOWSTONE IS ITS HIGHEST

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Aug. 16.—A new geyser has appeared in Yellowstone Park.

Without preliminary manifestations a quiet mudpool near the head of Obsidian creek in Yellowstone Park erupted Monday and sent a column of steaming hot mud and rocks 500 feet into the air.

The eruption lasted several minutes and was repeated at regular intervals, each time sending up a 200 foot column of mud and water, which is higher than any of the other geysers in the park.

The new geyser will be named the "Semi-Centennial" in observance of the fiftieth anniversary this year of the establishment of the park.

building. It would be three stories up and he could find the room. With his hand on the knob he hesitated a moment while he nerved himself. Then he opened the door.

"It was very good of you," said the girl to the staring lad, "to come to my assistance. You see I was foolish enough to get locked in and I couldn't make the janitor or anyone hear me." Bill looked around the room. "The man?" he asked. "The one who threatened and struck you, where is he?"

They were at the door now and the girl pointed to the lettering on the glass: "Helen De Camp Eloucton and Dramatic Training."

"He is my star pupil," she said, "and he left a half hour ago." (Copyright, 1922)

HARDING LAUDS ROOSEVELT ACTS

WASHINGTON, August 16.—

Tactics of the late Theodore Roosevelt in dealing, as President, with public problems were recalled yesterday by President Harding.

Who, in a telegram to Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, of Portland, Oregon, declared it was characteristic of Roosevelt's genius that he "always studied and inquired with infinite patience until he unerringly recognized the comparative importance of elements involved in public problems and then courageously dealt with them in direct and vigorous fashion."

"It was a method worthy the emulation of all who would serve as he served," the President added. "and I trust the nation may find that his example has not been forgotten."

President Harding's message to Dr. Coe was occasioned by the unveiling at Portland of a statue of Theodore Roosevelt.

SOUTHERNERS FOR PROTECTION.

Political signs in the South point to Republican gains in the approaching congressional election even greater than those of 1920. One has but to read between the lines in the tariff debates at Washington to see the changed sentiment. The South has a vigorous desire for protection which will not be denied.

An awakening to industrial opportunities, the growth of manufacturing, and the exchange of ideas between commercial organizations of the North and South has been responsible for this wedge which is entering the "solid South." Protection and other Republican economic and political policies are championed by business organizations which a few years ago had not thrown off the sectional yoke which had held them since the Civil War. So strong is this feeling that senators and congressmen, elected by the Democrats, are voting with the Republicans on the tariff issue and voting that way in the knowledge it is the policy favored by their constituents.

Those who have studied politics know that the Southern farmer has been the greatest opponent of protective tariff. Today, in increasing numbers, he is asking his representatives to support the bill and is anxious to share its benefits with the farmer of the West and Middle West. So it is that Alice M. Robertson, Congresswoman from Oklahoma, born and bred in the South, has delivered the first tariff speech ever delivered by a woman in Congress, and speaks for it as a protection of American homes. Republican gains in the South in 1920 told the story of the growing force of appeal toward a change in party affiliations. According to all signs November will add new emphasis.

BRAZILIAN EXPOSITION.

The growing importance of South America has been recognized by this country in plans for hearty participation in the Centennial Exposition to open at Rio Janeiro next month.
The United States has built a $300,000 building to handle its exhibits and, later, will transform this structure in a home for the embassy.
The new embassy, one of the few possessed by this country, will occupy a commanding and convenient position directly opposite the entrance of Rio's wonderful harbor. Its doors will be opened as the American Exhibition Building at the Exposition in September 7.
Brazilian Independence Day, the first day of the fair.

There are many sorry jokes concerning the manner this country treats its ambassadors in foreign lands and the fact is recognized that, under the old order, no man but a wealthy one could afford to take the job. It was Joseph H. Choate who was accented by a London police man on a rainy night and told to go home.
"I have no home," said Choate retreating further into the collar of his coat. "I am the American ambassador."

The Brazilian embassy is the third the country has erected. There is one at Peking costing $180,000 and another at San Salvador which, with improvements of grounds, cost $80,000. But recently a home was purchased in England, formerly the property of an American multi-millionaire.

Businessmen who recognize the importance of Southern American trade and the necessity for preserving friendly relations with the countries below the equator will learn with satisfaction the Government's generous participation in the Brazilian Exposition and of the way in which the money for a building was expended that it might retain a permanent reminder of the belief in the United States in the importance of South America.

The death of Lord Northcliffe is a world event, and likely to have an acute effect on British politics. He was a stormy petrel, and seemed to prevail against every administration in recent years except that of Lloyd George.
His sixty publications, including the great London Times, the Englishman's political Bible, were a mighty force, especially with a people inclined to give ear to journalistic expression; but his great personal qualities would have made him a leader without such aid. It is a tribute to the political genius of Lloyd George that his government was the only one able to withstand the Northcliffe onslaughts. With the pressure gone that was continually exerted against the present regime there is likely to be fiercer action on policies that have been inaugurated but were embarrassed by the opposition of the dead statesman and journalist.

THE FIRE CHIEFS.

One needs but look at the photographs of the fire chiefs of the country who are Oakland's guests today to realize again that here is a class of men set apart from their fellows.
The fireman is a square-jawed, assertive man, one of direct and fearless gaze. He is not to be found mixing in politics and his name and actions, except in the line of duty, are seldom given prominence. Where is there anyone who tends more strictly to his own business?

It is not for the rewards of salary men go into the fire fighting business nor for the chance to be proclaimed a hero. Perhaps it is the fight, the danger and the excitement which calls. That there is a call every fireman knows. It is heard first by the boy who pedals a bicycle after the department to every blaze, large or small, who volunteers his services in the stations and who is in a seventh heaven of delight whenever he may be of assistance.
The firemen can pick out these boys who will make good. There is something in the way they talk, in their carriage and their attitude toward their fellows to show they are one of the group. In the firehouses sometimes, after the manner of men, they grumble at long hours and meager pay and each in his heart knows not a one would trade jobs with any man in town.

The chiefs of most of the cities in the land, and some from China, Japan, France, the Philippines, Canada, Panama and elsewhere are in California to attend the convention in San Francisco. Today they were shown the East-bay. In their deliberations they will consider the new science of fire prevention and will discuss the intricate problems of their calling.

It would be worth while to be present at one of their sessions when an alarm rings outside and to see the fire chiefs of the country, on the instant, become alert fighters eager to answer the call. They are all firemen.

WAITING ON RUSSIA.

Reconstruction of Europe cannot wait on the reconstruction of Russia in the opinion of the group of eminent economists at the Institute of Politics sitting in session at Williamstown, Mass. The problems of the balance of Europe are too pressing to be delayed in solution. They should be met separately but, eventually, Russia must be helped to her feet.

Contrary to many expressed beliefs was the conclusion that no apprehension need be experienced at the prospect of an economic alliance between Russia and Germany provided it does not develop into a military or political
one. Economic bonds between the two countries will result in no harm. Also of reassuring nature was the declaration that there is little prospect of another European war.
"Neither Russia nor Germany has the capacity or will to fight," said Dr. Alfred L. P.
Dennis, Washington diplomatic expert. The Russian army, which was at one time the largest in the world, numbered only 1,400,000 last December, of which 600,000 were combat troops, and has since decreased from one-third to one-half that size.

Surely, the conference at Genoa demonstrated the hopelessness of including Russia in any immediate program for rehabilitation. Difficult as it may appear, Europe must make the choice of waiting on the Soviet government or acting for itself until the other is ready.
"It will take more than a generation," said Dr. Dennis, "to build up the engineering class of Russia, which was practically destroyed by the war, and until then Russia must depend on the technical skill of foreign nations. Military or political intervention will never be permitted by the Soviet Government, but a slow economic penetration without any attempt at political domination may succeed."

The latest news from Italy about D'Annunzio is altogether different. For some years the world has been regaled with accounts of the perilous feats incident to his political enterprises, which have included airplane voyages and campaigns, through all of which he has come unscathed; but now it is announced that he has sustained a serious injury to his head through falling while performing the inconspicuous stunt of walking in his garden. Illustrating again how one may pass through great adventures without a scratch, to come to grief through a commonplace and unheroic happening. It is not disclosed whether the mishap is of sufficiently serious nature to reassure those who want a surcease of agitation.

The Eden Township Farm Products Show demonstrated the participation of that part of the county in the new California movement by setting a record for attendance and achievement. Out of the show will come a community building for Hayward and out of that community building will come more ideas and movements for the general good.

To the Egg.
Let us doff a humble derby to the egg.
Let us cultivate the hen and all her folks.
Let us go up to the show
Where the roosters strut and crow.
With the chickens and the feathers and the yokes.

Be it soft-boiled in a cup.
In a salad, wrong-side up,
It's an egg!
Be it poached or in a cake,
Any way or any make,
It's an egg!

Let us sing a joyful psalm to the egg.
Let us pound upon the cymbals

Let us foot upon the flute
To the hen and all her fruit.
Let us make the merry welkin ring and hum!

Be it scrambled, be it fried,
Once over or sunny-side,
It's an egg!
If it rides a raft of toads,
Or with paprika is dosed,
It's an egg!

Sir: The day's news, always must have known that by the na-and the French goat.

Autumn Leaves in Springtime.
Out upon the hillside,
Where the little robins sing,
I found some autumn foliage,
In the latter part of spring.

Pretty leaves of red and yellow,
Blended too with brown and Way out upon the hillside,
green,
Where the birds their feathers
green.

I plucked a bunch of pretty leaves,
And then I plucked some more,
And another bunch of autumn leaves,
At my button-hole I wore.

But when I took them home with me,
And showed them to a friend,
He ordered me away from him,
And joshed me end on end.

Ah, autumn leaves, My heart it grieves,
To think upon that joke,
And now you see, I'm quite itchy,
For I have POISON OAK.

NOTES and COMMENT

Washington Star: "Lady Astor all his shooting on location. Attraction of opposites may work well at the start of a romance, but for the daily grind of matrimony complete sympathy with husband's work is wife's best preparation."

New York Times on the salubrity of Kansas: "The smills of the can-sus grind slowly. A recent bulletin gives to Kansas the distinction of the greatest average length of life for white males, 69.73 years, and for white females, 69.89 years. The announcement will elate Bill White and Ed Hays, who are committed to the dictum that the Sunflower State is the most favored portion of the earth, blessed with more intellect and morality per square mile than any other region."

Salt Lake Tribune: "Entrance into business by a large number of women, who are not obliged to support themselves, but who merely desire more spending money, is disapproved by Mrs. Jarvis Alden, recently appointed assistant secretary of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. Mrs. Alden is said to occupy the highest railroad office held by a woman. On the other hand, Mrs. Alden believes some business experience would profit almost any woman, if only to make her more appreciative of her husband's problems."

New York Herald on Jim Reed:
"It was no wonder that Senator Jim Reed of Missouri received an ovation when he returned to his seat in Washington. Every Senator must admire courage, whether or not he himself is the happy possessor of it, and in Reed the Senators saw a man who followed up the courage of his fight in the Senate against the Covenant with the courage of his fight for vindication in his party."

FOR THE CRITICS.
Those pessimistic old fogies whose greatest indoor sport is to criticize the University of Califor-

ORIGIN OF TWO WORDS.
The word "Cop," we have just

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

TIME'S ACCOUNT.
Yesterday was mine to own. I had it all and spent it.
From dawn to dusk I squandered, saved, bought, gave away,
and lent it.

A minute here, a moment there,
a few full hours to labor,
Some time for pleasure for myself,
a little for my neighbor,
With some of it a profit gained,
by some a new joy tasted,
And some of it just slipped away like money that is wasted.

Yesterday was mine to spend, I owned its every minute—
A full day's purse was given to me and all the treasure in it.
I had the seconds and the hours to buy whatever I chose to.

But who can tell when day is done where every moment goes to?
With some of it came laughter sweet, with some I purchased beauty,
And some I gave to friends of mine, and some I gave to duty.

Yesterday from dawn to dusk I had in my possession which came and went in one procession;
And eight of them I spent in sleep, untroubled as I rested,
And some of them I spent in toil,
a little while I rested,
An hour or two I spent in play, an hour I dreamed and pondered.
But when the day is reckoned up a lot of it was squandered.

America, My Native Land

By ALBERT RUPP.

America, my native land!

Against thy lofty liberty!
The heavens echo thy command,

Thy rights are my incessant care,
I love thy blessed soil and air.
I love thy heroes great and fair,
Who, for thy high ideals

For thy esteem I boldly dare

And earnestly I raise my prayer,
For blessings on what thou

While stronger than mountain

Thy people round about thee

Take thou my heart, my life, my

And tower my ambitions tall,
To work thy good what'er befall,
And sound thy glory through

About YOUR HEALTH

What Ascites Really Is and Some Ways It's Treated

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Ascites is derived from a Greek word meaning bag. In the disease called "ascites" the abdomen swells up and becomes like a completely filled sack. It is indeed, a bag, an elastic bag, entirely filled with fluid.

When there is a tumor in the abdominal cavity it causes a prominence of the part lying immediately over it. But in ascites there is uniform swelling of the body, exactly as you would expect to be the case if water were pumped into the cavity.

If one hand is placed on the side of the swollen abdomen and the fingers of the other hand are used to tap smartly on the other side you can feel the waves of fluid as they strike the hand. This test is called "fluctuation shock," and is characteristic of ascites.

When you tap on a normal abdomen it gives a hollow sound, but in ascites the sounds are dull, as you would expect when tapping on a sack of fluid.

Ascites is really a symptom. It indicates several possible causes.
When the heart's action is very weak so that the blood is not sent in forceful stream to every part of the body, it may ooze out into the tissues. This is called "cardiac imcompetency." Ascites may be caused by this incompetency of the heart.

In Bright's disease, when the kidneys fail to carry away the body fluids as they should, there may be damming up of water within the body. Ascites may be caused this way.

Slight ascites may follow typhoid, anemia and other diseases. Enlarged spleen, peritonitis, hardening of the liver and many other conditions may have ascites as one of the symptoms.

There is no standard and universal treatment for ascites. It all depends on the cause.
Sometimes a mild case of ascites will yield to repeated doses of salts These drugs take fluid from the system.

Your family doctor will study the case, examine the urine, and make a careful physical examination. The treatment will be directed to the primary condition.
The pressure and weight of this great accumulation of fluid causes much discomfort, difficult breathing and labored heart action. It happens frequently that immediate relief must be afforded. To this end it is the practice to tap the abdominal wall and to drain off the fluid.

This may sound like a drastic treatment, but, as a matter of fact it is a simple thing, and easily done by an experienced person. The surface of the skin is disinfected, and the small operation is painless accomplished.

After that there is time and opportunity to treat the original condition.

CLOTHIERS CITY'S GUESTS AS STATE CONVENTION ENDS

DELEGATES TOLD NEEDS OF AMERICA

Convention Hears E. F. Trefz of Los Angeles at Chamber of Commerce Luncheon; Ramage Is Vice-President

Business is the keystone of civilization, and business men are the logical ones to handle governmental affairs, upon business men lies the necessary authority and therefore the full responsibility for getting this country out of its political and economic troubles; so Edward F. Trefz, head of the Los Angeles branch of the Better America Federation, told the delegates to the convention of the Retail Clothiers and the Men's Apparel Club, at a luncheon given in their honor at the Hotel Oakland by the Chamber of Commerce.

"You cannot take a step forward in civilization without the aid of business," Trefz said. "It was business that built this mighty empire of ours. Idealists who look with scorn upon business as a necessary evil, and those professional men who look with contempt upon the business man, forget that business is the very foundation of the progress and civilization which have made possible their wisdom and culture."

U. S. "BIGGEST BUSINESS"
Trefz declared that the United States government is the biggest business in the world, and therefore should be run by business men.

"As a matter of fact, however," Trefz said, "out of the 485 members of the lower house of Congress, only 55 have ever looked a payroll in the face, and not more than 270 ever made $3,000 a year before they were elected to Congress."

Trefz recommended that the nation either fill the Senate and the House of Representatives with business men for four years, or let them show what they can do, or else adjourn Congress for the next ten years and let the country run itself.

But it is not sufficient for the business men of the country to possess the ability to handle governmental affairs, Trefz declared; it is their responsibility as leaders, with authority to direct the lives and affairs of thousands of other men, to instruct and guide those who are dependent upon them toward a proper understanding of governmental matters. Many of our present political and economic troubles, Trefz said, have been caused by the fact that hordes of recent immigrants have been permitted to vote without having the educational facilities for an adequate understanding of governmental affairs.

RESPONSIBILITIES TOLD.
"Your responsibility does not end with the payroll," he asserted. "How often are you syndicate your thoughts to your employees?"

"What we've got to do is this: Get it into the minds of the men and women of this country that the government is not a charitable institution; we have got to teach employees—and many employers, as well—that the United States is simply an opportunity. The main thing is to remember that the United States is like a race track, where all are free to compete, and that we must keep it open for all. Then all that an immigrant boy will need in order to succeed will be backbone, brain, and vision."

George Ross acted as chairman of the meeting. "Don't give the impression that you are trying to keep the good things of Oakland all to yourselves," he urged the chamber of commerce members who were present. "Instead of saying 'My City, Oakland,' why not say, 'Your City, Oakland?'"

Ross paid tribute to the hospitality that had been shown the visiting clothiers during their convention, at which he was one of the principal delegates. He also praised the progress made by the chamber of commerce in its work for the benefit of the city.

$100,000 IS SET ASIDE FOR HARBOR

For the operation and maintenance of the municipal dredges and pile drivers during the present fiscal year the city council this morning appropriated $100,000.

The ordinance specifically sets forth that the amount will be devoted to the operation of the dredges and pile drivers and "for the purchase of piles, lumber, cutter blades, dredging sleeves and other supplies and materials necessary to the maintenance of equipment operated by the harbor department."

By resolution the council transferred $8129.85 from the general fund, public betterment appropriation, and made that amount available for payment of the city's part of the cost of improving Madison street between Second and Twelfth streets.

Driver, Four Horses Killed By Lightning

POMEROY, Wash., Aug. 16.—Hubert Armstrong, 21 met death instantly last night when struck by lightning.

Armstrong was hauling wheat on his father's ranch, 15 miles from here. The same bolt of lightning killed the four horses he was driving. Armstrong's clothes were burned off his body, and persons who helped to move him said it seemed that every bone in his body had been broken.

A younger brother who was riding with Armstrong was stunned, but soon recovered.

An ordinance was given final passage appropriating $1780 from the general fund, harbor appropriation for the present fiscal year, for the purchase of 1200 feet of power cable for city of Oakland dredge No. 3.

MAP SHOWS DANGER ON SHATTUCK

BERKELEY, Aug. 16.—The most dangerous thoroughfare in Berkeley is Shattuck avenue from University avenue to Dwight way. It was disclosed today by Chief of Police August Vollmer. According to a "spot map" prepared by Vollmer within twelve months 100 accidents in which six persons were killed occurred in the designated sections of Shattuck avenue.

WILL BE EXHIBITED.
This "spot map" and many other features of safety work in Berkeley and other of the bay cities, will be an outstanding feature at the International Health and Safety Exposition under the direction of the chamber of commerce in the Oakland Auditorium, November 17 to 24.

Vollmer is a member of the safety committee. "It is not always the street that looks the most dangerous that really is dangerous," said Vollmer. "Take College avenue, a narrow street, appearing very dangerous. We have received hundreds of complaints that people drive too fast there, but there are mighty few accidents on College. The reason is that the street is crowded, and people entering or leaving it are on their guard and act accordingly. Grove street is wide and looks easy to the motorist. He steps into it at a lively pace and is bumped. We have plenty of smash-ups in Grove street. Next to Shattuck is the worst in town. The drive knows College avenue is bad, and either stops or slows up when he should. But Grove street fool him. University and San Pablo avenues is another corner where there is plenty of room to see and maneuver. Here again the driver takes too much for granted, and the cluster of pins tells the story."

THREE SETS OF PLANS PREPARED ON ESTUARY TUBE

County Surveyor George Posey today submitted to the city engineers of Oakland and Alameda tentative plans and specifications for the proposed estuary tube to connect the two cities. Daily conferences will now be held to determine the best type of tube construction.

W. W. Harmon, Oakland city engineer, stated that the plans include specifications for three types of tube. The most elaborate type involves the construction of a tube 41 by 25 feet, which would accommodate double tracking for street cars, with a ten-foot clearance between tracks.

Providing for but one car track the second type contemplates a tube 33 by 24 feet. No street car tracks are provided in the third type, the tube in this case being but 29 by 24 feet.

As revealed in the tentative plans the approach to the tubes would start at Fifth and Webster streets and the tunnel portal would come at Fourth and Harrison streets. The tubes would rise to the surface on the Alameda side at Work street with the tracks and highways leading onto Webster street.

The incline grades at either end would reach a maximum of 5 per cent, according to the plan, and the tubes would have a maximum length of 3750 feet. The approximate cost, to be provided for by bond issue, would reach $2,000,000.

Commenting on details of the plans Harmon said: "Sufficient ventilation would be provided to carry off the poisonous gases given off by motors. The tunnels also would be lighted and traffic regulations would prohibit the burning of lamps within the tunnel by autos or any other type of vehicle. This would eliminate the danger of collisions in the automobile-pedestrian tube resulting from glaring lights."

OAKLAND FIRE ENGINE MAKES HIT IN PARADE

Trucks Literally Covered by Red, White and Blue Asters

The Oakland Fire Department made a great hit with the exhibit representing the Oakland fire fighters in the parade which was held yesterday in San Francisco in honor of the delegates attending the convention of fire chiefs.

No. 2 engine of the Sixth street fire house was despatched across the bay for the purpose, decorated profusely in the national colors. The truck was literally covered with red, white and blue asters, and was admired and applauded along the entire route of the parade.

Captain James Donovan had charge of the engine, and its crew of six men.

Santa Clara's oldest piece of fire fighting apparatus, one of the most ancient hook and ladder trucks in the state, also played a prominent part in the parade. The old hook and ladder, which was purchased from the San Francisco fire department by the Town of Santa Clara in August, 1883, it was the first real hook and ladder truck owned by the Santa Clara fire department and was the pride of the county as well as of the then chief, P. J. Walsh. Manning the time honored truck in the parade were fifteen members of the Santa Clara fire department, headed by Fire Chief C. C. Quinn. The fire ladders were attired in the high boots, red shirts, red neckties and brilliant helmets so popular as firemen's uniforms in the early days.

LEGION OFFICERS INSTALLED FOR ENSUING YEAR

State Adjutant Morgan Keaton of the American Legion last night installed newly-elected officers and members of the executive committee of Oakland Post No. 5. Those installed were: Stuart E. Bowes, adjutant; Harry Roderick, Sidney Silverstein, John W. Collier, Edward Marvin, executive committee, and R. N. Whaley, sergeant-at-arms.

Following the installation ceremonies, Keaton made a short talk to the members of the legion in which he brought out the fact that the Legion today is the former service man's badge of peace-time service to his community, state and nation. As the uniform typified war-time service, so does your Legion button stand for peace-time service, said Keaton. Keaton was followed by State Labor Commissioner Walter G. Mathewson, first state commander of the Legion. Mathewson reviewed the entire work of the Legion in California and said that the Legion must continue to look out for the best interests of the ex-service men.

At last night's meeting Oakland Post formally endorsed the "Save Oakland's Sequoia" campaign, and still urged every member to vote for the park bond issue on August 29.

The following were elected delegates to attend the state convention at San Jose September 5, 6, 7 and 8 in the order named: J. W. Collier, Harry A. Nelson, Fred B. Mellmann, C. E. Capwell, R. M. WIDE PUBLICITY AIM IN OAKLAND WELCOME WEEK

Every known method of publicity and advertising will be used to inform the world of Welcome to Oakland Week starting September 11, according to reports made yesterday to the general executive committee of the city.

Supplementing the report of the advertising committee, announced that a comprehensive campaign has been formulated and that it would carry the facts about the week into every city and town in Alameda and Contra Costa counties, and that the propaganda would extend as far north as Napa and Vallejo.

Supplementing the report of the advertising committee, R. A. Leet reported that an organization would be effected of four-minute speakers who would tour the motion picture houses, the theaters and public meetings and make a personal talk on the week and its significance. In addition to this, Leet announced that arrangements were being made by which a special Woman's Day at which the wives of the various members would attend and the speakers would inform them as to the purpose of the event.

It was decided that the advertising and propaganda should start September 1, which will allow a week of preliminary effort, and provide a background for the event. In the advertising campaign newspaper space will be used very largely and will be supplemented by billboards and slides in motion picture houses.

Welcome to Oakland Week has the distinction of being the first community project attempted in Oakland. It represents the combined efforts of all the merchants and businessmen in a joint campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Fred Langsfeld, Oakland scenic artist, was arrested today as he left a hotel here, charged with writing a bad check for $2500 on James Hanson.

FREE ZONES FOR CRUDE IMPORTED MATERIALS O. K.'D

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Free zones at American ports wherein crude imported materials might be converted for export without payment of tariff duties would be provided for in an amendment to the tariff bill approved today by the senate without a roll call.

Three other changes in the bill were made in rapid succession, Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, finally winning his fight to place on the free list logs of fir, spruce, cedar or western hemlock, paving posts, railroad ties and telephone, telegraph, trolley and electric light poles and hubs for wheels, heading blocks and the like.

The Harrell amendment to impose tariffs of 35 cents a barrel on petroleum and 25 cents a barrel on fuel oil was rejected, 45 to 9. Those supporting the Harrell amendment were Borah, Democrat, and Burton, Capper, Curtis, Harrell, McNamara, New, Nicholson and Stanford, Republican.

The house rates on these matters, unchanged by the finance committee majority, were $1 per thousand board feet on logs and 50 cents ad valorem on the others. The senate to transfer logs to the free list was 28 to 26, but the other changes were made without roll calls.

The free zone amendment had the approval of the senate commerce committee, but Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, declared close study of it would be necessary before its approval in conference. Under the amendments goods could be brought into the United States, manufactured within the free zones, and re-exported without the payment of duty. If after manufacture they should enter the United States the duty would be paid.

CHILDREN SAVED FROM S. F. BLAZE; FIREBUG SOUGHT

Three Fires in North Beach Endanger Section; Suspicion of Arson Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Three fires which may have been the result of renewed activity on the part of the incendiary who operated here two weeks ago, caused $20,000 worth of damage and aroused the North Beach section early today. Fireman H. Dorham was injured and four little children rescued during the progress of the fires.

The first alarm was sounded at 2:30 this morning for a blaze in the rear of a restaurant at 406 Bay street. Two additional alarms were sounded here as the flames spread to a one-story dwelling, a two-story flat building, and a machine shop at 404 Bay street operated by Boicill Brothers. It was at this fire that Dorham was hurt. His hand was badly lacerated and he was taken to the Harbor hospital. Two children were carried out by firemen from the upper of the two flats.

The second blaze occurred at 4:15 a. m. and two alarms were sent in. It broke out in some rubbish in the rear of the three-flat structure at 348 Greenwich street, occupied by Mrs. G. Garibaldi, and several other tenants. Considerable damage was done.

At 5:25 a. m. fire started in the garage of a building at 1388 Pacific street, owned by M. V. de Vezno. Two machines were destroyed and the flames spread to a barber shop and a dwelling at 1390 Pacific street, where W. L. Harris and his wife and family were trapped for a short time. The firemen rescued them and their two children, Gordon, aged 6 and Donald, 11.

The home of W. L. Curbin, 1394 Pacific street, and flats owned by A. Becker, 1384 and 1386 Pacific street, were damaged.

While it is possible that spontaneous combustion may have been responsible for the three fires, the fact that they were close together and the places where they started, say fire officials, make it seem probable that they were the work of the firebug who caused the department some sleepless nights two weeks ago.

The trip is short—only a few hours' ride from bay and valley points. Beautifully wooded sites on hill or shore are within the reach of every pocketbook. A few dollars down will secure a desirable lot for any purpose. Wonderful view of lake and mountains. Positively no mosquitoes—no malaria—no mud.

Joe Slump Is Factor in the Pennant Race

Breaks of Game May Win Flag for Yankees or Browns

By BABE RUTH.
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—With the Yankees and the Browns only a game or so apart and the former settling down at the Polo Grounds for the last time, the pennant race is getting on toward the point where the slightest break or misstep may result in a decisive victory.

Joe Slump, who has been a factor in the pennant race in the past two weeks and in the hottest pennant race in years is bound, sooner or later, to tell on one or the other of the two contending clubs.

To my way of thinking, the "break" in the American League pennant race is almost at hand. Both the Yankees and the Browns have been setting a terrific pace during the past two weeks and they cannot keep it up forever. One or the other is bound to crack and I believe that when the crack develops it will prove decisive.

Thus far this season the Browns have been one of the most consistent clubs in the major league and the Yankees one of the most inconsistent. The Browns have been playing the same steady game almost continuously ever since the start of the season, especially against the second division clubs, to which they seldom lose a game. They have had the usual number of mishaps to their star players but haven't suffered to any appreciable degree therefrom.

BROWNS MISSED SHOCKER.
The stages of the race Urban Shocker was born to combat for better part of a month yet the club went on winning without him. More recently, first baseman George Slaughter and catcher Hank Severid were out of the game simultaneously, only to rise again and resume their old-time winning ways.

The Yankees, on the other hand, have spent the greater part of the season alternating rising out of slumps and plunging into them again. They look like a million dollars for a couple of weeks and then spread consternation and dismay among their adherents by falling away to nothing for a spell, only to rise again and resume their old-time winning ways.

They have had half a dozen slumps this season, including one which cost them twelve out of fourteen games at St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland and Boston in June. They came out of it, however, and the next time they toured the West they cleaned up eleven out of fifteen games, ten of their victories being scored in twelve starts at St. Louis, Cleveland and Detroit.

The Yankees, then, have proved their ability to survive a long slump. The Browns have yet to show a like ability for they haven't experienced a real slump all season—and sooner or later every club must have at least one slump. The Yankees have had theirs and have come out of them intact; the Browns still have theirs to face and it remains to be seen whether they can grapple with a long run of reverses and fight their way clear.

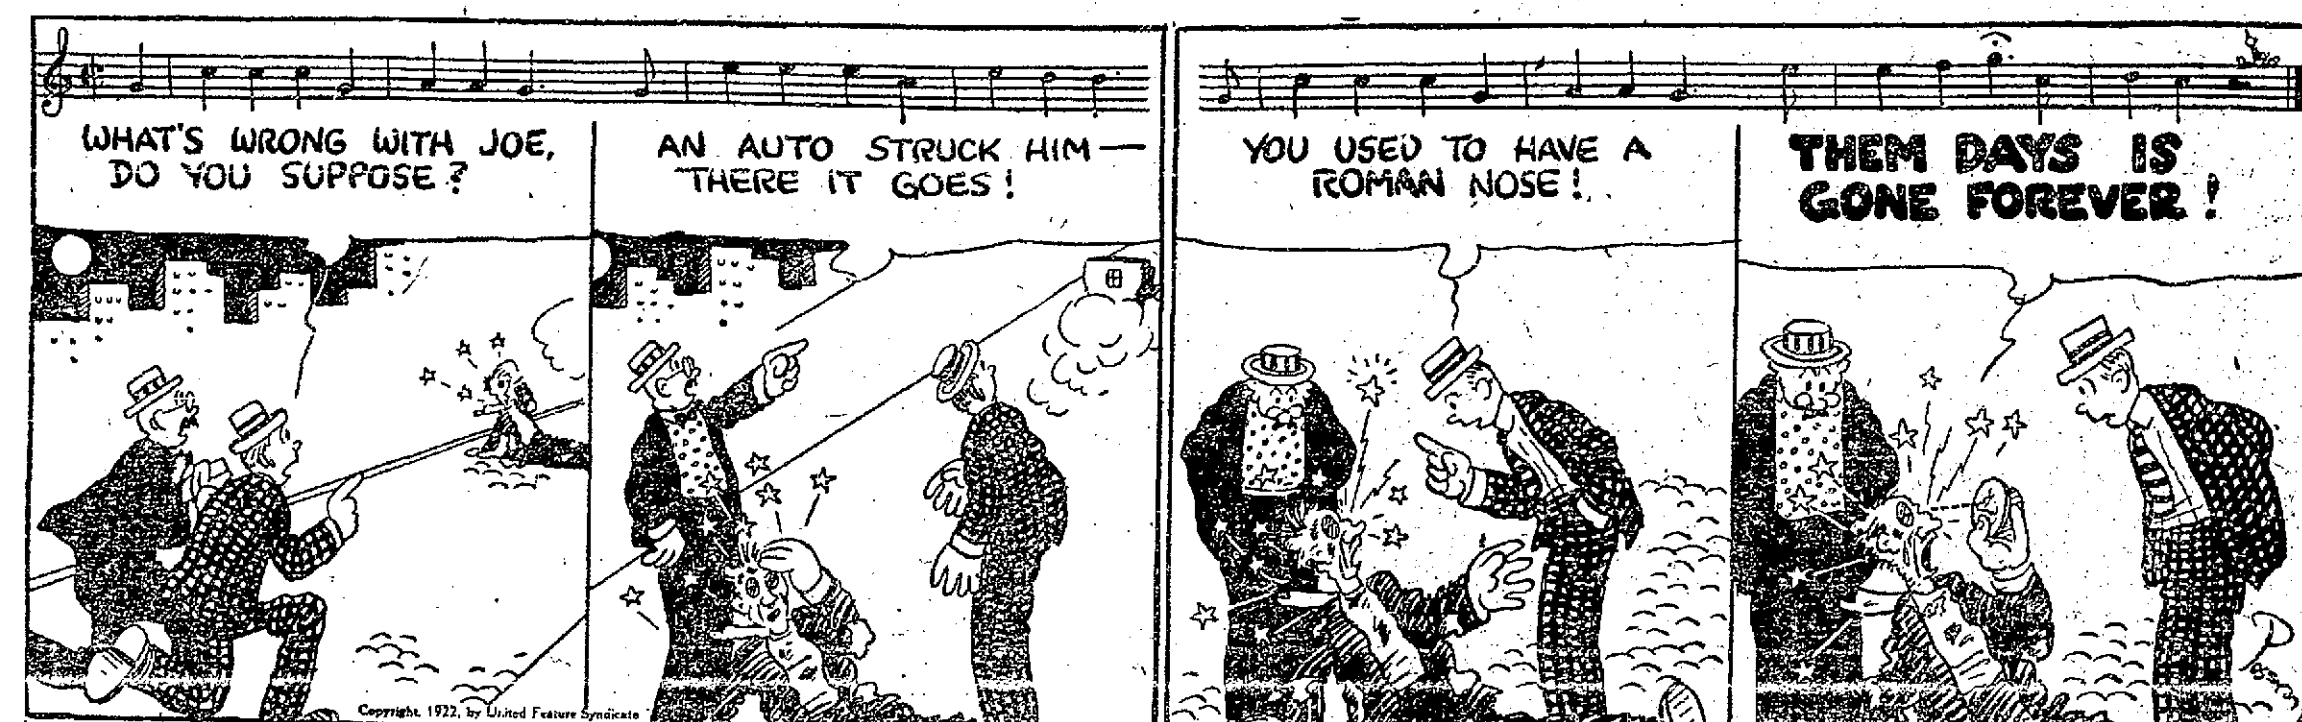

The Yankees, then, have proved their ability to survive a long slump. The Browns have yet to show a like ability for they haven't experienced a real slump all season—and sooner or later every club must have at least one slump. The Yankees have had theirs and have come out of them intact; the Browns still have theirs to face and it remains to be seen whether they can grapple with a long run of reverses and fight their way clear.

Of the Yankees, feel that they will and that we will have the pennant pretty well in hand before we take to the road for our last trip on the night of September 10. (Copyright, 1922, by The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

Boss Sees S. Adams-Lane; Pages Scouts
SEATTLE, Aug. 16.—Colonel T. L. Adams, who with Colonel J. H. Rupert, owners of the New York Yankees and who is in this city attending a national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is reported to have wired New York for scouts to come out and look over Billy Lane and Spencer Adams of the Seattle Coast League baseball team. Colonel Adams yesterday held a conference after the Portland game with Jim Bold and Manager Jack Adams in the colonel's private car. He said that he was going to get out to the ball park several times, though his duties as delegate will take much of his time throughout the week.

Gwen Parks Is Eliminated by Mrs. Prole

By W. D. McNICOLL.
In the San Francisco championship matches yesterday Mrs. H. A. Prole of the Claremont club once more demonstrated her ability to win against players of championship class. Miss Gwen Parks, the medalist found the Claremont player in one of her dependable playing moods, when her opponents cannot take liberties. Mrs. Prole, in now driving a much longer ball than formerly, having changed her swing to accomplish this end, and fortunately has retained her former excellent game around the greens.

Mrs. R. T. Yates, who played so brilliantly in the qualifying round, yesterday in match play, Mrs. Prole's approach and putting touch was missing and caused her to lose many possible chances for halves. A stroke on the 12th left her a chance to win a hole at the critical period in the game. Miss Hanchett, who, with her sister, recently returned from an extended golfing tour which included most of the famous British courses, gained much experience in contests with the Leitch sisters, and many equally famous championship contenders.

Mrs. Barbara Leitch, the young Sequoyah player, won her match on the 20th green, after being as many as three holes in arrears. Her success in the tournament is gratifying to Sequoyah and Diablo members, who have watched her development during the last year or two. Mrs. A. E. Lorber scored another victory for Sequoyah in the third flight, winning on the last green 2 up. Following is a detailed list of the local players who succeeded in the various flights yesterday:

First flight—Mrs. H. A. Prole (Claremont) defeated Miss Gwen Parks, 2-1.
Mrs. R. W. Patterson, 2 up.

Fourth flight—Mrs. Clarence Graham (Sequoyah) lost to Mrs. S. Brinkner, 5-4.
Mrs. A. V. Thompson (Berkeley) lost to Mrs. A. F. Laussen, 1 down.
Mrs. S. Woody (Diablo) lost to Mrs. A. Wilkes, 2-1.
Mrs. H. E. Llane (Sequoyah) d. Mrs. J. A. Gorman, 6-4.

FOUR CLUBS DICKER FOR YOUNG PITCHER LANDED BY J. DEVINE

By EDDIE MURPHY.

For years the name of Joe Oeschger, former St. Mary's College boy, has been identified with the box scores of big league teams, and may be next season the name of his young brother George, another student of St. Mary's, will be prominent in major league circles. George, who is a lad of 180 pounds and only 20 years of age, is going to get a chance to pitch for the New York Yankees in the American League next season. Joe Devine, after a long trip to Ferndale, in Humboldt county, returned yesterday with the signed contract of George Oeschger in his pocket and said contract is now on its way east to become the property of the New York Yankees, for whom Devine is a scout. Three other major league clubs, among them the Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators, have been dickering with Oeschger, and it was only through personal acquaintance and the fact that he made the trip to the Oeschger ranch last Saturday afternoon that Devine was able to land the young heater.

Louie Gusto and Walter (Lefty) Malls had both recommended Oeschger to the Cleveland Indians and that club made the young fellow a flattering offer. He was on the verge of signing with the Indians when Devine suddenly popped in on the family. Gusto and Malls had George Oeschger under their eyes at St. Mary's college when they were on a scouting tour. Devine said the big boy would be a big league pitcher in another season. It is claimed that he can show as much speed as Walter Johnson and his only fault is with his arm. Devine waited one more day he would have lost Oeschger.

him with some team in the Oakland Tribune league. Devine will then find time to coach him and help in overcoming the wildness for which he is noted. "Stubby" Mack, the heater now with the Seattle club and who has been sold to the Chicago White Sox for $50,000, is another player who was picked from St. Mary's college. Devine said he would like to see Oeschger in action when they make them. But Devine took a chance on correcting the pitcher of his fault, and got good results. He believes that the same excellent chance of victory against her more experienced opponent.

GOLF FACTS worth knowing
by INIS BROWN

Q. If a player tees his ball so far forward on the tee that his left foot is beyond the line between the two front markers when he plays the stroke, although the ball is within the limits, can his opponent recall the stroke?
A. The rule requires only that the ball be teed within the limits of the teeing ground.
Q. Both players are on the putting green. A puts and holes his ball. He then tells B he is down in six, and that B, putting for a five has that stroke to win. B puts and misses.
A. A says he was wrong at first, that he was down in five, and B really has his last stroke for a half. Does B win the hole because A gave him misinformation?
No. Under Rule 23, nothing that A might do could cause him to lose the hole since B could not possibly get better than a half with only one stroke remaining for a half.
Q. In a single match a player asks his caddy to lift a leaf from the line of his putt. His opponent's caddy standing nearer, steps forward, lifts the leaf and presses down the turf with his foot. Does this action cause any penalty for either player?
A. No.
Q. In a week-end medal play competition two players tie for the prize. The committee orders the tie played off the following Tuesday afternoon. In the morning before this play-off one of the two players plays around the course. Does he disqualify himself?
A. No. The rule forbidding playing on or onto any regular hole of a course before a medal competition does not apply in such a play-off.
Q. A player takes his drive and his ball stops on the side of a steep hill very nearly a boundary line. He takes his stance and is preparing to play his next stroke, when the ground under his club, where the ball starts moving and eventually rolls out of bounds. Is he charged with playing the ball out of bounds?
A. Yes, if the ball moves after he has taken his stance and grounded his club he is deemed to have caused it to move. If any golf rules puzzle you, write Inis Brown, care of our Sporting Editor, enclosing stamped, return envelope.

Fittery Turns in Win for Senators
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 16.—Paul Fittery won the decision over Slim Meyers in the first game of the series here yesterday afternoon and did a little hitting himself to aid in the final 2 to 1 victory that was scored by the Senators.
Dees had a slight edge in the hitting, getting eleven safeties to ten for the home team, but the Senators made their hits count, while the home team was only able to put over a tally in the fourth on two hits, their others being wasted.

Helen Wills One of Eight in Net Finals

Berkeley Girl Star Opposes Mrs. Jessup at Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Eight survivors, six from the east and two from the Pacific coast, were bracketed today in the round before the semi-finals of the national women's lawn tennis championship, on the courts of the U. S. Side Club.
Mrs. Molla Elmeret Mallory, of New York, the defending champion, was scheduled to meet Miss Edith Sigourney, of Boston, and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., faced Miss Helen Wills, of Berkeley, Cal., national girls' title holder, in one half of the draw. In the other Miss Leslie Bancroft, West Newton, Mass., was opposed by Miss Clara Cassel, of New York, while Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles had as her opponent Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J.

Mrs. Mallory, Miss Bancroft and Mrs. Bundy were strong favorites to gain semi-final brackets in today's play while chief interest was centered in the contest between Miss Wills and Mrs. Jessup. Miss Wills recently defeated the Wilmington star, who ranks No. 3 on the national list, and as a result of her brilliant play yesterday in defeating Mrs. Harry Bickel, of Toronto, the Canadian champion, the girl champion was conceded an excellent chance of victory against her more experienced opponent.

The youthful Miss Wills yesterday earned the applause of the gallery by her brilliant exhibition of all-around tennis. She eliminated Mrs. Harry Bickel of Toronto by the decisive scores of 6-2, 6-1, by flashing the most impressive play of the day.
Other matches of importance included the elimination of Miss Molly D. Thayer of Philadelphia by Mrs. Mallory, 6-2, 6-0, after twenty-two minutes of play; Mrs. Bundy's defeat of Miss Edith B. Handy of St. George of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-0, and a viciously contested struggle between Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., and Miss Florence Ballin of N. York, which Miss Bayard won, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

The day also marked the elimination of five contestants who came from distant points. Miss Margaret Davis of St. Paul fell before the prowess of Miss Bayard in the forenoon. Miss Grace E. Mungion of Los Angeles was eliminated by Mrs. Jessup; Mrs. Gladys Hutchison, champion of Bermuda, bowed before Miss Jessup; Miss Leslie Bancroft, of West Newton, Mass., the Canadian title holder, was beaten by Miss Wills.

Gene Sarazen Battles Jock For Supremacy

Canny Scot and Pittsburgh Youngster Clash For Pro-Title

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 16.—The greatest interest in today's play in the National professional golf tournament, attracted supreme interest in the semi-final match of the six less famous survivors were left to the attention of minor galleries.
If the Pittsburgh youth can top the Chicago veteran and thus enter the semi-final round on Thursday, he will be one strike closer to the historic feat of winning two national titles in one season. His remarkable playing yesterday afternoon reminded many spectators of his exhibitions at Skokie a month ago where he won the national open title—an event that attracted world interest.

Hutchison has won many golf honors in the past decade but he said last night that a victory over the "Invincible Gene" would be regarded as the red letter event of his career. Last year, Gene and Jock met in the second round of the national professional tournament at Inwood, N. Y., and Hutchison was eliminated and Gene Sarazen was comparatively unknown to the golf world, and his feat attracted only passing attention.

RELLY ELIMINATED

Yesterday's youthful Johnny Rell was looked upon by many as the probable winner by virtue of his triumph Monday over the veteran, Jim Barnes. But today Johnny's heart is heavy and the reality of fame has dropped to the role of mere spectator. He was eliminated by Tom Kerrigan of Sonawany. To Tom it was just another step in the quest for another crown. He has witnessed the shattering of many youthful dreams.

In the upper bracket with the headliners today are Bob Cruikshank, of Westfield, N. J., and Charlie Rowe, one of the three "Jock goes".

The Pittsburgh youngster and the veteran Scot won their 36-hole fourth round yesterday, as a consequence of brilliant play, particularly in the afternoon round. Sarazen is one of three Pittsburgh stars who will participate in the four matches today—the fourth round of the tournament.

Hutchison and Sarazen met with stiff opposition for 27 holes yesterday, but their opponents faltered on the home stretch. Hutchison eliminated Harry Hampton, Detroit, 5 and 3; while Sarazen only came up in 13 holes, went wild in the afternoon and downed F. T. Spraggall, Memphis, 8 and 7. Gene developed his Skokie stroke and putts, long and short, all looked alike.

PEACOCK ATH. CLUB HAS FIRST RUNNER IN ANNUAL MARATHON

Technical High Leads Local Schools With Five Entries; Prize List Announced Soon.

By DOUG MONTELL

Enter the Peacock Athletic Club into the field for team honors in the tenth annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt Marathon with the casting of the chapeau of S. W. Fortner into the ring of entries for the big Admission Day race. Fortner entered this morning, making the seventeenth Eastbay runner to signify his intention of running in the Lake Merritt classic. The Peacock Athletic Club is the second Eastbay athletic club to have an entry in the TRIBUNE race, the Alfieri Athletic Club having broken the ice last week. Thus far, after ten days that entries have been pouring into this office, all runners who have entered are Alameda county athletes.

Who will be the first out of the county runner to enter is the question that is attracting the attention of those already entered in the big September 9th event. In past years San Francisco runners have always given the athletes of the Eastbay a lead time in the competition for individual and team honors in the race when it has been run twice around the Lake. Now that the distance has been shortened it appears as though the Eastbay runners of Alameda county were going to have matters very much to themselves, unless the out of the county athletes get busy.

Nineteen More Days to Enter

There remain but nineteen days more before the entries close, September 2nd is positively the last day on which entries will be accepted for the big race, and the next day has not entered had better get busy at once. Less than three weeks remain for the athletes to enter. The early entry list assures all that there will be plenty of competition, but to date the out of town runners have been more delinquent than in past years about sending in their entries.

Likewise the industrial runners of the Northern California amateur federation have not shown signs of activity to date. In the basketball season the local industrial plants had strong teams in the field and these splendid athletes were expected to show great strength in the competition for team prizes in the TRIBUNE Marathon. The field having been thrown open to them by not requiring runners to be registered P. A. athletes.

Technical High Leading Field

The race for honors of the local high school having the greatest number of entries in the big race still proceeds along at a merry clip. On day one high school and the next another takes the lead for having the largest number of athletes entered. Berkeley, Alameda and Vocational high schools are the only ones on this side of the bay who have yet to send in entries for the race on Admission Day, but these should be coming in shortly, as Berkeley high started their semester last Monday and Vocational begins the next term on Monday, August 21. This morning brought in two more entries from Technical high school athletes, once more putting the Purple and Gold of the Broadway institution out in front. Vernon McCalla and Elmer Morrill Jr., were the two Tech boys who showed their school to the front once more today by sending in entry blanks.

Oakland Runners Coming to Front

To date Technical high leads with five entries for the race, while Oakland high is a close second, Fred Kennedy entering this morning, swelling the O. H. S. list to three. University has two entered and is close behind the leaders for honors. Watch for the big announcement Sunday concerning the high school having the largest number of runners to enter. We have a surprise in store for the high school runners, for while they will enter for the first dividend prize that awaits the first and second high school runners of Alameda county to finish, as well as the other individual prizes, there is still another prize in store. We will tell you all about it Sunday. In the meantime high school runners should lose no time in getting down to serious training and sending in their entries so as to be sure of being among those who start in the once-around the Lake race on September 9th.

Frush Rocked to Sleep in Ninth Round

Veteran Italian Scrapper Seems to Be Getting Better.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Johnny Dundee did two things last night in his bout with Danny Frush of Cleveland, that he seldom does. He knocked out and knocked down a title, the former much more realistic than the crown bestowed upon him by the New York State Boxing Commission. "Featherweight champion of the world in New York state." Before the evening ended some seventy-five energy stated a movement to shorten the designation to "featherweight champion of New York state."

That's what it amounts to any way since Johnny Kilbane, basking behind a shield of greenbacks in Cleveland wears the genuine crown that outside of New York state is acknowledged to be the original.

Despite his twelve years in the ring, meeting all comers, the best and worst in three divisions, featherweights, "junior lightweights" and "lightweights" and being outpointed very few times and knocked out scarcely at all, Dundee has been unfortunate. He has not received a sure-enough gold-plated title nor has he seen many to dreamland.

WORKS METHODICALLY. But Frush to bed in a cool methodical manner. He began carefully, but after the first round Danny was indisposed. He relied on a stiff left arm to keep Johnny at a distance and also to win. Dundee pawed around for a few rounds, hitting a stinger now and then and doing more damage than was there apparent.

The action wasn't gruelling enough for the 18,000 fans, but Frush was more disturbed by their feet clamping than by his veteran opponent. Dundee lowered his guard in the seventh and Frush stepped in, repeatedly stepped into Johnny's long left, and after Danny had his chin tilted several times, Johnny pried a right hook to the wind.

Stung by a hard left toward the close of the eighth round Dundee rushed back, began his unvarying practice of bouncing off the ropes, landed a few short uppercuts, then a hot right to the jaw, and finally a terrific right to the stomach. Frush reeled and dropped to the resin, out of breath. Frush reeled and dropped to the resin, out of breath.

Fight Results

Eddie Diggs and Young Carmen boxed a draw at the Arcadia club, San Francisco, last night. Tommy Gardner and Jimmy Dineen gave a terrible exhibition of mixed wrestling and fighting. Dime was shoved out of the ring in the second round and was counted out while sitting in with the newspaper boys.

Young Friedlander was decisively whipped by Alex. Tassloff. Jackie Hynes won from Frank Gomez in the best bout of the night.

Here is how Billy Van describes the Collins-Gordon McKay bout at Vernon last night:

"Fighting for the Lumberjacks championship of Vernon, Collins took four-round decision from McKay in a bout highly flavored with rapier flourishes which the fans bounteously bestowed on them. Young Farrell won every round from Georgia Spencer. In a slovenly bout Young Papke beat Joe Herman all the way.

Australians Ready To Play With Spain

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—The Australian tennis team which will oppose the Spaniards in the final round of the Davis cup international tourney for the right to meet America in the challenge round at the Germantown Cricket club tomorrow Friday and Saturday, was expected to arrive here today.

It was considered likely today that Pat O'Hara, Wood and Gerald Patterson would play the entire five matches against the Spaniards, and if necessary R. C. Wertheim, a fourth member of the team, will be called upon.

Meanwhile the Alonso brothers—Captain Jose and Manuel and Count Manuel Degomar, who constitute the Spanish team, have managed to have practice sessions daily, despite many engagements.

OAKLEY BEATS CONCORD. Concord's Three C leaguers went down to defeat in a thirteen-inning pitchers' battle last Sunday morning, at the hands of the Oakley aggregation. The game which lasted two hours and forty minutes, was full of thrills throughout, and furnished no end of excitement for the large gathering.

Both Camozzi, Concord's moundman and Prince of Oakley pitched fine ball throughout the entire thirteen-inning. The final score was Oakley 3, Concord 2.

G. Sisler Now Leads Cobb By Six Points

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—George Sisler, the St. Louis batting leader, widened the gap between himself and Ty Cobb, lot of the Detroit Tigers, yesterday by the batting honors of the American League. Sisler is now six points in front of his rival, his average being .414 compared to a mark of .408 for the Georgia peach.

Their records follow: Player—Games, AB, Hits, Per. Cobb.....105 430 185 .430 Sisler.....99 420 185 .441

Missionites to Start Grid Practice Soon

Santa Clara Loses But Two Members of 1921 Football Squad

Fall practice in football will commence at the University of Santa Clara upon the opening of the coming semester on August 22, 1922. The Missionites will put forth a veteran squad this year, there being only two members of the 1921 squad out of the lineup this time.

Interest is especially keen among the followers of the Santa Clara team for the reason that Santa Clara may meet St. Mary's college after a cessation of athletic relations between the two old institutions for some ten years. This game would draw crowds, second only to the Stanford-California battle.

Caesar Manelli, captain of last year's Red and White team, has graduated and will not be back and he will be missed in the back-field, as will Martin Murphy, star lineman, who has also left school to follow agricultural pursuits.

Coch W. Buckingham, however, expresses the opinion that the new material recruited from last year's prep team will make up whatever loss the team expects to suffer through these graduations. He also expects much from "Dago" Rinaldo, a youngster who created quite a sensation in the backfield last year and should do as well this season, although playing against more experienced teams.

The completed schedule has not been officially announced, but it is known that Santa Clara will meet Stanford, California, the Olympic club, Arizona and St. Mary's, and at present a dicker is being made for a game in San Jose on Admission Day, as a special feature of the Admission Day celebration to be held there at that time.

Burleigh Grimes Has Been Reinstated

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Burleigh Grimes, star spit ball twirler of the Brooklyn baseball club, who was suspended a week ago after an altercation with Manager Wilbert Robinson, has been reinstated by President C. H. Ebbets.

Grimes, who was suspended without pay and fined $200 for his alleged display of temper, today was on his way west to join the Dodgers at St. Louis.

Four Californians Remain Out of Eight Survivors in Newport Play.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16.—The French Davis cup team, defeated at Longwood by the Australians Monday, came here as individuals yesterday for the annual Casino tournament and faded out of the singles picture within an hour or two. All three members, Andre Gobert, Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, met defeat in their first competitions. This elimination of a nation's best in preliminaries play was almost without precedent.

Gobert fought hardest to keep France on the courts, but young James Davies, "Leland" Stanford collegian, wore him down after an uphill fight following a lost love set. The scores were 6-6, 11-9, 6-1. Cochet, conqueror of Pat O'Hara Wood in the "only match which France won from Australia, fared poorly before the steady stroking of Nat W. Niles of Boston, a college star of a decade ago. He went out in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

In a battle of youngsters, Arnold W. Jones, of Providence, a Yale freshman, defeated Jean Borotra 7-5, 2-6, 6-3. Gobert and Cochet were eliminated in the third round and Borotra in the second round. Each had advanced, however, without competition through opponents' defaults.

The only member of the Australian team in this team, R. C. Wertheim, a sub, who met defeat by Willie E. Davis, of San Francisco. The score of this third round match was 6-2, 6-6, 6-3. Californians predominated among the players who advanced to the third round which last night lacked the followers of the Santa Clara team, Howard Kinsey, who won without serious effort, and Davies formed half the eight players who will qualify.

The foreign players were more fortunate in the doubles play, which opened yesterday and was contested until fog and darkness shut in last night. All the visitors advanced, paired with each other, or with American players.

MANY NEW BOXERS WILL MAKE DEBUT AT TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Jimmy Duffy and "Tiger" Johnny Cline in Main Bout; Macey Has Date With Lynch.

By BOB SHAND

T. J. Simpson's troupe of trained four-rounders are ready to do their stuff at the auditorium this evening and indications point to another crowded house. Mons. Simpson scoured the highways and byways for new faces to introduce to the clientele and he will offer four brand new ones for the approval of the customers. The Clines, Johnny and Gene, who are not related, will make their debut. Marcel Denis, the famous French lightweight, will also make his first appearance in the west, and Pat Walsh, who gave Jock Malon a tough fight a few weeks ago, will be introduced to the local fans by Ray Pelkey. The other battles on the program are known and seasoned performers who can be depended upon to give the ladies and gents a run for their currency.

"Tiger" Johnny Cline, the young man who meets Jimmy Duffy in the main bout, is said to be a rough party who likes to slug. Mr. Duffy will not do much slugging with him as Jimmy's forte is to hit and get away, but Cline says he will keep Jimmy on the run all night.

Any boxer who can stake Marty Farrell to fifteen pounds and then slip the Marvelous One a licking must be considerable fighter. Cline performed that feat in Los Angeles and has newspaper clippings to bear out his claim. It was a great fight with Marty trying to be clever and Johnny forcing the fighting. Farrell and Duffy use the same style in the ring, which makes the "Tiger" think that Jimmy will prove just as easy as Farrell. If Johnny Cline defeats Jimmy Duffy he can have Simpson's diamonds next time he shows here.

Gene Cline and Eddie Mahoney Will Mingle

Gene Cline and Eddie Mahoney have an argument to settle. Gene thinks he should be on top of the card and he has been promised that honor next week if he succeeds in knocking out Mahoney. Eddie was beaten by Duffy in his last start, while Cline was beaten by Chick Rutch.

Frankie Murphy, Kid Parker's good middleweight, who made a hit last time out by his willingness to mix matters, will tackle Sailor Benny Ritter in what should be a

DUNDEE WANTS A MATCH WITH BENNY LEONARD

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—As soon as Johnny Dundee wins the lightweight championship and gets fatter and wins the welterweight title and then gets heavier and wins the middleweight championship, he'll be satisfied.

Dundee now holds two titles, but they are both trick ones. He won the belt for the junior lightweight division, a branch establishment for the 130 pounders, and last night he took the featherweight championship of Muldoonland from Danny Frush of Cleveland. He knocked out Frush in the ninth round.

From all surface appearances, all Dundee must do to win the real featherweight crown is to get Johnny Kilbane in the ring. As long as Kilbane insists upon 125 pounds for the fight, even the flexible Dundee can't make the weight.

Dundee is going after Benny Leonard with the official challenge and the official forfeit and the official baillif. He has been trying to get Benny to fight him to a decision for some time, but the champion apparently doesn't want to take chances of spoiling the business partnership that has existed between them for many years.

slugging fest. Murphy is a seasoned performer and he's game as two pebbles. His record shows that he can take care of himself in any kind of company. Ritter started here once, against Joe Roberts, and he was giving Joe a beating until he hurt his back. At that he got a draw.

Famous French Boxer to Tackle Leopold

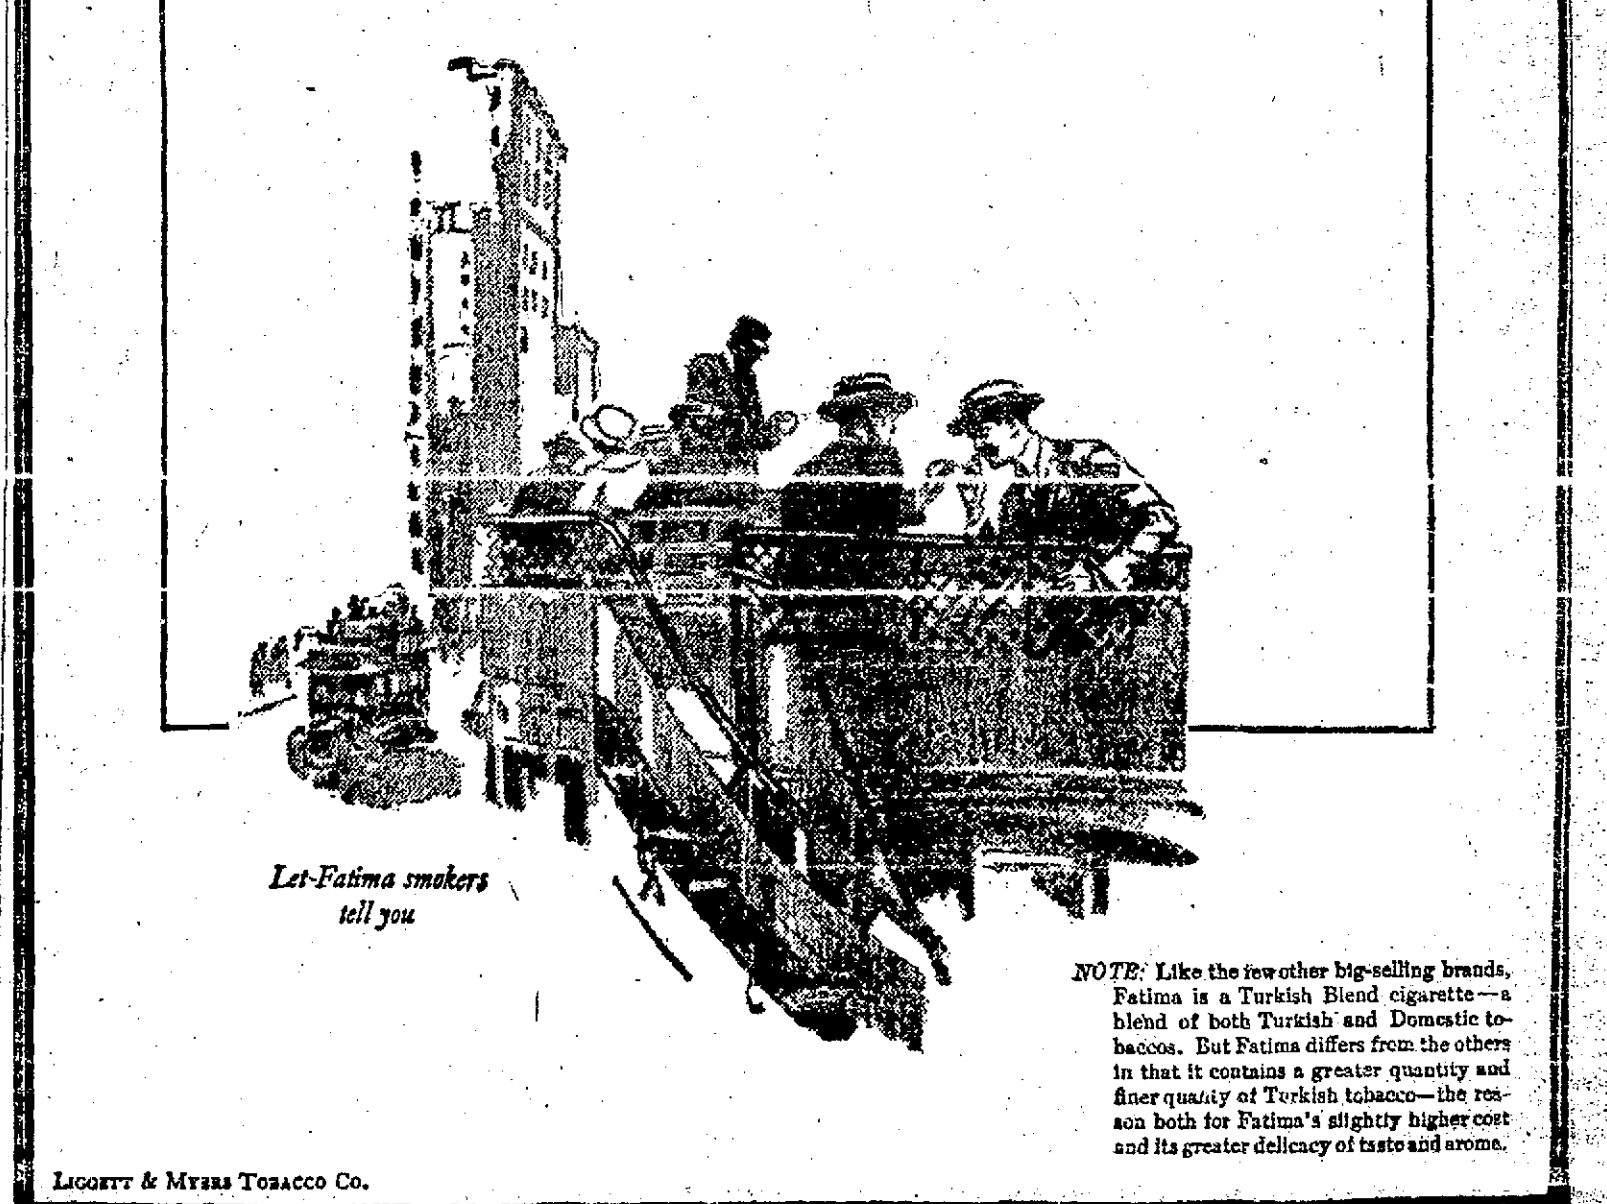

Marcel Denis has been accustomed to fighting main events, but tonight he boxes Joe Leopold. In one of the preliminaries, Marcel took the game from Georges Carpentier, which may or may not be a boost. Anyhow he has a bookful of clippings that prove he has been quite a fighter in other parts of the world.

Eddie Kelly and Jackie Flynn will open the show. They put up one of the best fights of the night last week and should repeat

There is no other cigarette of such quality at such a price.

NOTE: Like the few other big-selling brands, Fatima is a Turkish Blend cigarette—a blend of both Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. But Fatima differs from the others in that it contains a greater quantity and finer quality of Turkish tobacco—the reason both for Fatima's slightly higher cost and its greater delicacy of taste and aroma.

My Marriage Problems Edith Harrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

THE ONE SUGGESTION BESS DEAN HAD TO MAKE.

Pa Cosgrove is naturally the most courteous of men, but his wrath had been stirred so mightily by the action of the tall man at the roadside inn, that he "said bad words" so loudly that he startled himself for a whole minute after he had made our dramatic rush from the inn grounds. It was as artistic a performance as I ever had heard, and even my Puritan training was not proof against it. Despite the stress of the moment, I could not cavil at Pa's for the appreciative chuckling laugh which came to her lips as Mr. Cosgrove paused for breath on a particularly picturesque imprecation.

"Oh, Pa Cosgrove," she gurgled. "If I could only cuss like that I'd be—"

"What—what?" the big man stammered. "Say I clean forgot there were ladies present. I sure beg your pardon, Mrs. Graham—and—Miss Dean."

WHO SMITH IS.

"I need no apology, Mr. Cosgrove," I made the word especially emphatic, because I could not turn my head to utter them. I was obeying Dicky's instructions to "step on the gas," and the machine needed every atom of my attention. "Do we turn at that next corner?"

"No, keep on about a quarter of a mile beyond the corner. You can see Jake Korns' house when you get a few yards past the corner."

"Who is the tall gent back there?" drawled Dicky. "The one who appeared to be so peeved at us?"

"The biggest no-good stiff in all this section," Pa Cosgrove returned emphatically. "His name—'I think it is—' or gives up here—'I think I'll bet I'll bet a cooky there was a 'sky' or a 'chit' tacked on before he changed it. He came here about 1912, bought nearly a whole town, built him a great big house, and put up a lot of other buildings. He put barbed wire, miles of it, all around his boundaries, and had a regular mystery place up there. Of course, there was a lot of talk during the war, bound to be, but either he was O. K. or had an awful pull; anyway, he was never investigated, and since that war stopped he's got a lot of money around here on his payroll in some capacity or other, pays big wages, and they don't dare say their souls are their own."

"Take that little restaurant man back there, Kronish, as nice and inoffensive a little chap as I ever lived. But Smith owns his place, and lets him have it at low rent—the fellow's a good landlord, and liberal to all his help—and, of course, Kronish slides down the pole whenever Smith has a word to say. But Smith don't own me, thank the Lord, although he could make it most awful unpleasant for me if he keeps up his pose of thinking we had anything to do with that young fellow getting his head run in. I'm not going to cross that bridge until we come to it. There's Korns' light now, Mrs. Graham. Now everybody say your prayers that the doc's there and can leave."

"DO STOP FOOLING!"

Bess Dean twisted herself in her seat as I started on, and Mr. Cosgrove leaped to the ground, running up the path like a boy.

"Is he speaking the truth?" she demanded of Dicky in low, worried tones. "Will that fellow make trouble for us, try to connect us with that trooper's injuries?"

"I'm not a mind reader, little one," Dicky rejoined airily. "So I cannot tell you what is passing through the massive head of the tall, mysterious stranger at the inn. But this I know, and know full well, that I do not like that particular Dr. Fell one little bit, and I wouldn't mind a chance of slapping his wrist—gently and with discretion, of course, but still slapping it."

"You know," Dicky went on, "old Dad Cosgrove is a pretty wise fellow. If he had any sense at all, he would put up a sign in front of his place that says 'No Troopers Allowed.' But even if you are put in jail tonight, sweet girl, you won't weep. I shall bribe the jailer to give me the next cell, and provide me with unlimited quantities of chocolate almonds—your favorite confection, you know—and a zither. The almonds I will slip through the bars to you, and the zither I will play on the zither, trala-lala."

That Dicky was up to some mischief, I knew by this farcical nonsense and a certain infection in his voice which only appears there when his gawdy has something a bit malicious in it.

"Oh, do stop fooling and talk sense a minute!" Bess Dean fairly snapped the words at him, and made the mental comment that the man who married her might find an able rival concealed behind her apparently cool insouciant exterior.

"What particular brand would you like?" Dicky inquired with exaggerated deference. "Analytical, experimental, subjective, meta-physical—just indicate the tap you wish."

"Only with the answer to this question," her voice had a vicious edge. "This physician, of course, has a machine here. I can see it over there. Why cannot Pa Cosgrove go back with him? Then we could go back to the house where we belong. This fishing trip is up to the Cosgroves, anyway!"

Dr. Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

THIS is about Lip Sticks. It is also about silliness, self righteousness and all the rest of the moral code. For the purposes of a sermon, a Lip Stick's as good as a Penitentiary any day.

Marguerite Mary Mullins does not use Lip Sticks. No indeed! Rosie and Zoe and Maybelle and Anne and a dozen other little tap-poles down at the office do use Lip Sticks. I'll say they do! The Boys do not look twice at Marguerite Mary Mullins. They do not even look half a time. But they simply glue their gaze on Rosie and Zoe and Maybelle and Anne et alii. So Marguerite Mary Mullins says that the Modern Young Man does not appreciate the "sweet, true, modest, Old-Fashioned Girl." She likewise makes remarks about bad taste, delectfulness and what-are-our-homes-coming-to. She's alternately torn between envy, anger, silliness, self-righteousness and self pity. And all because she doesn't use a Lip Stick and the other girls do.

If Marguerite Mary Mullins peered alone she wouldn't be important. But she's only one of the mighty Anti-Lip Stick Brigade who are making the world unsafe for Nice Complexions. Their idea is to make the world unsafe for somebody somehow, so they pick on Lip Sticks. And I'm here to state that they have picked wrong!

A Lip Stick is only a bunch of red paste. It has no more to do with the Kingdom of Heaven than a Pair of Corduroys, a Gown Starch Pudding, or a Fly Swatter. It's a material convenience, and it's convenient in more ways than one. A touch of rouge, a mist of powder and a painted smile have shot fresh courage through many a wilted backbone and stiffened many a sagging sense of humor.

You wouldn't grudge a coat of paint to a shabby little store. In fact, you'd think the owner shift-

less who wouldn't apply one. Then why neglect your own facade? Why lower your own value in the eye of the passer-by? "But it deceives people!" cries Marguerite Mary Mullins. Well, I, for one, would much rather deceive a Modern Young Man with a powdered nose than repel him with a shiny one. So that's that, and why pretend? Like-wise I've yet to see the face powder that will stick to my profile for more than half an hour, much less sink in and scar my soul for eternity.

As far as the Modern Young Man, he's just like the young man of the past, and the future. When it comes to bestowing his admiration and affection he isn't looking for methods. It's Results he wants. If the Results are merry and friendly and comfortable and fresh, what cares he how they are achieved? And if they're crabbly and snug, do you think he's going to overlook it because that countenance has been undisciplined save by honest laundry soap? Nay, NAY! If the wages of unrouged virtue be merely crabbiness, for the love Mike buy a drug store and spread it on with a sponge, and stop worrying about your soul.

LIP-STICKS VERSUS
SOUL

Here's a letter which I endorse to the full extent of my lung power. Lend an ear:

Friend Geraldine:

Whether you are "an old maid," a married woman of uncertain age, or a modern man, the writer of your pages surely has plenty of brains and a large heart, and properly proportioned on a 50-50 basis.

As to the old maid and old bachelors know more about raising children than the parents—in many cases they do—and often give more attention of mind and heart to youngsters they come in contact with than do the parents themselves. In fact, getting married and having children is not always a test of heart or brains—often something far below these.

Your article on lunches for children is most timely as I recently noted the same thing around one of our public schools. I was amazed at the "concoctions" the children took for nourishment (?). But I blamed the school board in not providing a room where suitable lunches could be prepared and served.

With our domestic science courses why can't they have the high school students prepare the proper lunches at all these grade schools, as a part of their work? Then fifteen cents or even ten cents would buy something both tasty and filling as well as nourishing, sold at the bare cost of foods.

The future morals of the community and country, as well as the present, depend on this. The mothers simply won't attend to it, I left to them, with our modern apartment house living. The old lady was right. "They ain't fit to raise rubbids." But the state has to suffer for it later. Wish you would start this movement among the clubs and women's associations, as to properly prepared lunches in every grade school, sold at cost. There isn't room now, cut out one or two of the fads, till they supply the body as it should be fed.

Speaking of promiscuous kissing among young people of today and of the young man who writes that he believes the kiss should be a token of mutual love and promise of marriage, between young men and women. I feel by long observation and some experience that you can't emphasize his ideal too much. When, when, if ever, will sweet girlhood learn that boys and young men prize what they have to work and wait for in that line, as for all other proper things in life? The argument mostly used that if not permitted the boys won't come around again, is all pitiful. It is!

More likely to disgust him, for a REAL chap doesn't want things too easy, and considers that if it does come that way, he likely has no exclusive claim there. The "kiss" that comes from such kissing is misplaced and premature, and can only result in harm to mind and soul, and too often to the body. So urge your girls to keep the kiss for the betrothal and then serve their best interest for now and the future.

My sympathy goes out to the young women of good heart and the best intentions, who are waiting only proper love and attention when she finds the man is already married, and perhaps has children. Such an "angel man" deserves the "skinning" you gave him in reply to "Sweet Heart Mine." One would think such a girl would do a little investigating about a man who gave her such attention, and know who and what he was. But most of them are fools enough to be flattered by such a man, even when they DO know he is married, by his saying they understand him as his own wife doesn't. But what I wanted to say was, when will women insist on L.A.W. that a married man must have a title to designate him as being married, the same as with women? A law requiring all married men and women to wear wedding rings would help society, and an engaged man should be willing and even proud to wear some token from his sweetheart to tell the public this fact, just as she does.

AN OLD BACHELOR.

In many schools special attention is now being given to the diet, and the errors in the home menu corrected. However, it's a mighty touchy subject. The vast majority of mothers simply EXPLAIN it you tell them that the state has any right to interfere in or criticize their care of their children. You can hardly regulate the corner grocery. The things which the children buy have passed the "pure food laws" and are not particularly injurious except when eaten as the exclusive article of food. This is, of course, no concern of the seller. Personally, I believe in TRAINING FOR PARENTHOOD AS A SORT OF CIVIL SERVICE, and I do not think that young people should be allowed to marry until they can successfully pass the examination. I demand licenses for automobile drivers, but any fool can and does start a family without the slightest sense of responsibility to the nation or society.

Why not an apron for the little girl. Whether or not she has to, she often does play with baby on the floor or do some little odd job around the house when she is dressed up at the risk of positively ruining her party clothes. she should have an apron just as well as her older sister.

And there is one which mother can make in a couple of hours at a cost of only about 45c figuring 30c a yard for gingham. It is a very practical style, too, for it well protects the garment it is slipped over, and in addition to being very easy to make and inexpensive, it opens flat so that it is easy to launder.

The pattern No. 1429 cuts in sizes 8, 12 and 16 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/4 yards of 36-inch material with 1/8 yard of 18-inch contrasting material. Price 15 cents, stamps or coin.

I feel by long observation and some experience that you can't emphasize his ideal too much. When, when, if ever, will sweet girlhood learn that boys and young men prize what they have to work and wait for in that line, as for all other proper things in life? The argument mostly used that if not permitted the boys won't come around again, is all pitiful. It is!

More likely to disgust him, for a REAL chap doesn't want things too easy, and considers that if it does come that way, he likely has no exclusive claim there. The "kiss" that comes from such kissing is misplaced and premature, and can only result in harm to mind and soul, and too often to the body. So urge your girls to keep the kiss for the betrothal and then serve their best interest for now and the future.

My sympathy goes out to the young women of good heart and the best intentions, who are waiting only proper love and attention when she finds the man is already married, and perhaps has children. Such an "angel man" deserves the "skinning" you gave him in reply to "Sweet Heart Mine." One would think such a girl would do a little investigating about a man who gave her such attention, and know who and what he was. But most of them are fools enough to be flattered by such a man, even when they DO know he is married, by his saying they understand him as his own wife doesn't. But what I wanted to say was, when will women insist on L.A.W. that a married man must have a title to designate him as being married, the same as with women? A law requiring all married men and women to wear wedding rings would help society, and an engaged man should be willing and even proud to wear some token from his sweetheart to tell the public this fact, just as she does.

AN OLD BACHELOR.

In many schools special attention is now being given to the diet, and the errors in the home menu corrected. However, it's a mighty touchy subject. The vast majority of mothers simply EXPLAIN it you tell them that the state has any right to interfere in or criticize their care of their children. You can hardly regulate the corner grocery. The things which the children buy have passed the "pure food laws" and are not particularly injurious except when eaten as the exclusive article of food. This is, of course, no concern of the seller. Personally, I believe in TRAINING FOR PARENTHOOD AS A SORT OF CIVIL SERVICE, and I do not think that young people should be allowed to marry until they can successfully pass the examination. I demand licenses for automobile drivers, but any fool can and does start a family without the slightest sense of responsibility to the nation or society.

Why not an apron for the little girl. Whether or not she has to, she often does play with baby on the floor or do some little odd job around the house when she is dressed up at the risk of positively ruining her party clothes. she should have an apron just as well as her older sister.

And there is one which mother can make in a couple of hours at a cost of only about 45c figuring 30c a yard for gingham. It is a very practical style, too, for it well protects the garment it is slipped over, and in addition to being very easy to make and inexpensive, it opens flat so that it is easy to launder.

The pattern No. 1429 cuts in sizes 8, 12 and 16 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/4 yards of 36-inch material with 1/8 yard of 18-inch contrasting material. Price 15 cents, stamps or coin.

So—
This is Oswald—is it?
He looks a little peaked to me—
But never mind, Carrie—I've raised ten—
And I'll soon make the roses bloom—
In those pale little cheeks—
Why—Carrie—
You've got him imprisoned in flannels—
Like he was going to start on a trip—
To the North Pole—
Here—Skeezies—I can't call—
A helpless baby—

Grandma will soon have you comfortable—
What's that—Carrie—
The Advanced Thought Clinic—Advised you always to keep him—

He never wore anything—
But a thin romper—and a diaper—
And Tom was champion center guard—

Well Os—no I can't do it—
Come—Billy—grandma will cure that feeling—
There, now—see him go after it—
What are you yelling about—Carrie—

less who wouldn't apply one. Then why neglect your own facade? Why lower your own value in the eye of the passer-by? "But it deceives people!" cries Marguerite Mary Mullins. Well, I, for one, would much rather deceive a Modern Young Man with a powdered nose than repel him with a shiny one. So that's that, and why pretend? Like-wise I've yet to see the face powder that will stick to my profile for more than half an hour, much less sink in and scar my soul for eternity.

As far as the Modern Young Man, he's just like the young man of the past, and the future. When it comes to bestowing his admiration and affection he isn't looking for methods. It's Results he wants. If the Results are merry and friendly and comfortable and fresh, what cares he how they are achieved? And if they're crabbly and snug, do you think he's going to overlook it because that countenance has been undisciplined save by honest laundry soap? Nay, NAY! If the wages of unrouged virtue be merely crabbiness, for the love Mike buy a drug store and spread it on with a sponge, and stop worrying about your soul.

Here's a letter which I endorse to the full extent of my lung power. Lend an ear:

Friend Geraldine:

Whether you are "an old maid," a married woman of uncertain age, or a modern man, the writer of your pages surely has plenty of brains and a large heart, and properly proportioned on a 50-50 basis.

As to the old maid and old bachelors know more about raising children than the parents—in many cases they do—and often give more attention of mind and heart to youngsters they come in contact with than do the parents themselves. In fact, getting married and having children is not always a test of heart or brains—often something far below these.

Your article on lunches for children is most timely as I recently noted the same thing around one of our public schools. I was amazed at the "concoctions" the children took for nourishment (?). But I blamed the school board in not providing a room where suitable lunches could be prepared and served.

With our domestic science courses why can't they have the high school students prepare the proper lunches at all these grade schools, as a part of their work? Then fifteen cents or even ten cents would buy something both tasty and filling as well as nourishing, sold at the bare cost of foods.

The future morals of the community and country, as well as the present, depend on this. The mothers simply won't attend to it, I left to them, with our modern apartment house living. The old lady was right. "They ain't fit to raise rubbids." But the state has to suffer for it later. Wish you would start this movement among the clubs and women's associations, as to properly prepared lunches in every grade school, sold at cost. There isn't room now, cut out one or two of the fads, till they supply the body as it should be fed.

Speaking of promiscuous kissing among young people of today and of the young man who writes that he believes the kiss should be a token of mutual love and promise of marriage, between young men and women. I feel by long observation and some experience that you can't emphasize his ideal too much. When, when, if ever, will sweet girlhood learn that boys and young men prize what they have to work and wait for in that line, as for all other proper things in life? Burials Among Greeks

THE mystery of death has worried men for tens of thousands of years. At a very early time it was noticed that sooner or later every plant and animal died. People wondered why this was. They wanted to know what happened after death. Many believed that dead persons lived in another world, either as spirits or with real bodies.

Out of this belief sprang the habit of giving honor to the dead. During Stone Age times in Europe, ornaments were placed blank pillars or blocks of stone. They were simple slabs of marble with the name of the person, often, with statues of great beauty.

These statues were attempts to show how the person appeared at the finest period of their lives. Husband and wife, parents and children were shown sitting together, clasping one another's hands in love and sympathy. The attitude was shown in the face of the power, the child in all his radiance.

around the heads, arms and necks of the corpses. Stone weapons were laid by their side. In the Later Stone Age, it came to be a custom to burn or cremate the body.

The Greeks paid honor to their dead. Cremation was more common than the other kind of burial. The ashes were placed in urns, and these were buried in a grave set aside for the purpose. The cemetery near Athens was on either side of a much-used road which led out of the city. The tombstones were not just big the burial of a youth. He is being crowned with a myrtle wreath. A slave girl holds a sun-shade over his head. The Greeks believed it to be a dishonor if a burial took place after the sun went down.

At the foot of the couch is the body-servant who had been in the habit of taking the youth back and forth from school. A man did not want to bear two tables on his head. These tables hold dishes intended for the grave.

"Mothers who desert their children—yes, they're bad enough—but how about the men who run away from their families and never give them another thought? I wish you would say something about them once in a while. I don't know what you think that a man shouldn't be tied down to such petty details as supporting the woman he promised to love and cherish and protect for the rest of his life, and why should he worry about a bunch of kids?"

"There are hundreds of such men in the world. What do you think of them?"

IRRIGATION BOARD REFUSES TO QUIT

FRESNO, Aug. 16.—After an all day and night session members of the Madera Irrigation District board determined to maintain their attitude on conditional resignation, according to reports received here last night. The board's final decision was to retain its present status until Miller & Lux accepted the offer of irrigation board members to quit only after the district was formed, plans for irrigating lands within the district were approved and water rights conveyed.

A letter was forwarded yesterday to J. Leroy Nicol, head of Miller & Lux interests, asking for a reconsideration of the conditional resignation.

The Madera district and Miller & Lux interests have had several conferences on terminating the litigation now pending and uniting.

HUSBAND DENIES $25,000 DEMAND AS BLACKMAILER

Extortion Charges By Atlanta Capitalist Bring Reply Detailing Scene.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 16.—Damages of $100,000 are asked of Walter T. Candler, local banker, by Mrs. Sarah Gillespie Byfield in a suit filed today in DeKalb superior court at Decatur, Ga., in which she alleges that as a result of an attack upon her by Candler in her stateroom aboard the steamship Berengaria on the night of July 16 last, she has been forced to keep to her bed much of the time since, her condition finally necessitating an operation, which was performed here Monday.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 16.—Mrs. Sarah Byfield, whose husband was charged by Walter T. Candler with having extracted a $25,000 check from him while the three were en route to Europe in July, was reported today as seriously ill at her home here at the same time that her husband, Clyde K. Byfield, a local automobile dealer, issued a statement denying the accusations of blackmail.

Candler, in a petition filed in superior court and made public yesterday, sought to restrain Byfield from collecting a thirty-day note for $20,500, which Candler asserted he had given along with certain cash in exchange for the check. Today Candler, son of Asa G. Candler, Atlanta capitalist, issued a statement declaring there were "many glaring misstatements" in the automobile dealer's charges. He also denied having struggled with Mr. Byfield's 21-year-old wife as the husband alleged, and added as "the case is to be tried in court, I will make no further statement."

Candler's petition alleged that Byfield demanded $25,000 of Candler, when he found the latter in Mrs. Byfield's stateroom, and asked that Byfield be restrained from realizing on a note for $20,500, which the petitioner said he had given, with $2000 in cash and Byfield's notes for $3500, in exchange for a check for $25,000.

The statement referring to the incident aboard ship mentioned by Candler's petition, said:

"The charge that when I entered the room I said: 'Now, I have got you and I have been suspecting this for six months; you must pay me $25,000,' is unfoundedly false."

Alleging he was attracted to his wife's stateroom by her outcry, his statement said:

"I sprang to the stateroom and opened the door. I saw Candler in a struggle with my wife. I was unarmed; did not have even a pocket knife, but with my naked hands I did my best to kill him."

Other people, it continued, intervened and separated the combatants.

In France, Byfield admitted, he took the $25,000 check, which, he said, Candler offered to him.

WOOL MAN'S SON KILLED BY AUTO

READING, Massachusetts, Aug. 16.—William M. Wood Jr., son of William H. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, and Alex Gardner, of North Andover, were instantly killed when their automobile, after demolishing two other cars on the Reading-Andover boulevard near this town, crashed into a telegraph pole yesterday.

Paul Rice of Shawheen village, the third occupant of the automobile, was hurled 20 feet into a swamp. He escaped with a broken rib.

Wood, who was 30 years of age, was married seven years ago to Miss Edith Robinson, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Wood came to Lawrence last night by seaplane, completing the journey here by automobile.

Four years ago, Wood succeeded his uncle, Frederick Ay as a director and first vice-president of the company, later resigning the vice-presidency to go into business as a wool broker.

The Ways of the Army

A green recruit was having his first experience at doing sentry duty at one of the southern cantonments in 1917. Toward him through the darkness came a captain.

"Halt! Who goes there?" demanded the greenhorn.

"Officer of the day," came the answer.

"Beat it, before I run you in," said the sentry. "What the hell would the officer of the day be doing hangin' round at night?"

This story is matched by one that I had from a retired chaplain who vouched for its authenticity.

The officer of the day was inspecting the guard. "What are your orders?" he inquired of a drafted man.

"Sir," said the sentry, in his newly-acquired military manner, "my orders are to be vigilant."

"What does vigilant mean?" said the officer.

"I don't know," said the sentry.

"Call the corporal of the guard and we'll find out," said the officer.

The corporal of the guard came, and saluted.

"Corporal," said the officer, "this man here doesn't know the meaning of the word vigilant. Suppose you tell him."

"It means, sir, to be alert," answered the corporal promptly.

"And what does alert mean?" said the commander, anxious that the lesson should be driven home to the pupil.

"I don't know," said the corporal.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARDNER

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BUTTERCUP.

"Do you want to come for a walk with me, Susie?" asked Uncle Wiggily one day, as he stopped in front of the house where Sammie and Susie Littletail, the bunny children, lived.

Susie had been playing with her doll, Matilda Jean Pudding-cake, but now the little rabbit girl had sung Matilda to sleep and there remained nothing much for Susie to do.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I'd love to go walking with you," said Susie. "Do you s'pose we might happen to walk past a drug store?" she asked.

"Why a drug store?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know. "Don't you feel well, Susie, or is Matilda Jean Puddingcake ill?"

"Oh, neither one of us!"

"Well, I suppose I could," said Uncle Wiggily without so much as a twinkle of his pink nose, and a twinkle is much less than a twinkie, you know.

"All right, Susie, let's go walking, and perhaps we'll have an adventure," said Uncle Wiggily after a while. So he and the little rabbit girl started off, through the woods and over the fields. And, as truly as I'm telling you, soon they reached a drug store where ice cream soda was sold, and the funniest part of it all was that Uncle Wiggily hopped inside and bought some for himself, and he bought some for Susie also.

"Oh, it is most delicious!" sighed Susie, as she swallowed the last of the cooling ice cream. She did not very often use such long words as "delicious," but it is allowed when one has had ice cream.

"Now for a real adventure!" cried Uncle Wiggily when, a little later, he and Susie were hopping through a field. In the field were growing a number of shiny yellow flowers, and one of these blossoms Uncle Wiggily said to the rabbit girl, "Let me see if you like butter."

"Of course I do, on my carrot bread!" laughed Susie. "But how can you tell with that flower?"

"Because this flower is a buttercup," answered the bunny gentleman. "It is bright yellow, just the color of good, grass butter. Now if I hold this flower under your chin, and I see a yellow color shining on your chin, then that shows you like butter."

"Go ahead, do it!" invited Susie. And when Uncle Wiggily held the buttercup under the chin of the rabbit girl Susie suddenly giggled and burst out laughing, crying, "Oh, please stop, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Stop what?" the bunny uncle wanted to know.

"Stop tickling me with that buttercup under my chin!" laughed Susie. "Oh, how it tickles!"

"Well, I'm sure I didn't mean to do that!" chuckled the bunny. "Now just hold still a minute!"

But the longer Uncle Wiggily held the buttercup under the chin of the little rabbit girl the more often it touched her and tickled her, causing her to giggle and laugh.

"Well, I guess you like butter all right," said Uncle Wiggily, laughing himself, "but you don't hold still long enough for me to find out for sure. I saw a little shine of yellow, however, and I'm sure you like butter."

"I'm sure, also!" said Susie. "and I like ice cream, too!"

Uncle Wiggily was just going to toss the yellow buttercup flower into the brook, when, all of a sudden, there was a crash in the bushes, and out popped the bad Skillery Scallery Alligator.

"I know what I like!" bel-lowed the Gator. "I like ears—rabbit ears especially—and I'm going to nibble some right away!" And he looked at Uncle Wiggily and Susie, who were much frightened.

"Don't you like anything besides ears?" timidly asked Susie. "Don't you like butter?"

"I don't know whether I do or not!" growled the Gator. "I never had time to find out whether I like butter!"

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily will find out for you," sweetly said Susie. "Hold the buttercup under his chin, Uncle Wiggily!"

"All right," said the bunny. "But no fair nibbling my ears while I'm doing it," he said to the Gator.

"No," agreed the Gator. "I won't nibble you until you find out whether or not I like butter." Then the Gator held up his head, his throat and chin below it being soft and tender, not like his hard, scaly back. And as he held the buttercup under the Gator's chin Uncle Wiggily let it tickle like anything.

"Oh, wouch! Oh, smouch! Oh, what a funny feeling!" gurgled the Gator. "Stop! You tickle-ickie!"

"But no fair nibbling my ears while I'm doing it," he said to the Gator.

"You surely were," laughed the rabbit gentleman.

ODD FACTS

Dr. Edith Mittel, recently made an interne at the Flushing, N. Y., hospital, is the first woman to hold such a position in New York City.

The Dairy Division of the United States Agricultural Department has a rat show which is being shipped around the country to demonstrate the value of a milk diet. One is fat and sleek and has been given milk in addition to some other food, but the other is thin and puny. It had been deprived of milk. These rats were chosen from two cages each containing six rats. All had about the same start and after two months the milk-fed rats had flourished and the others had lost weight. The difference was very marked.

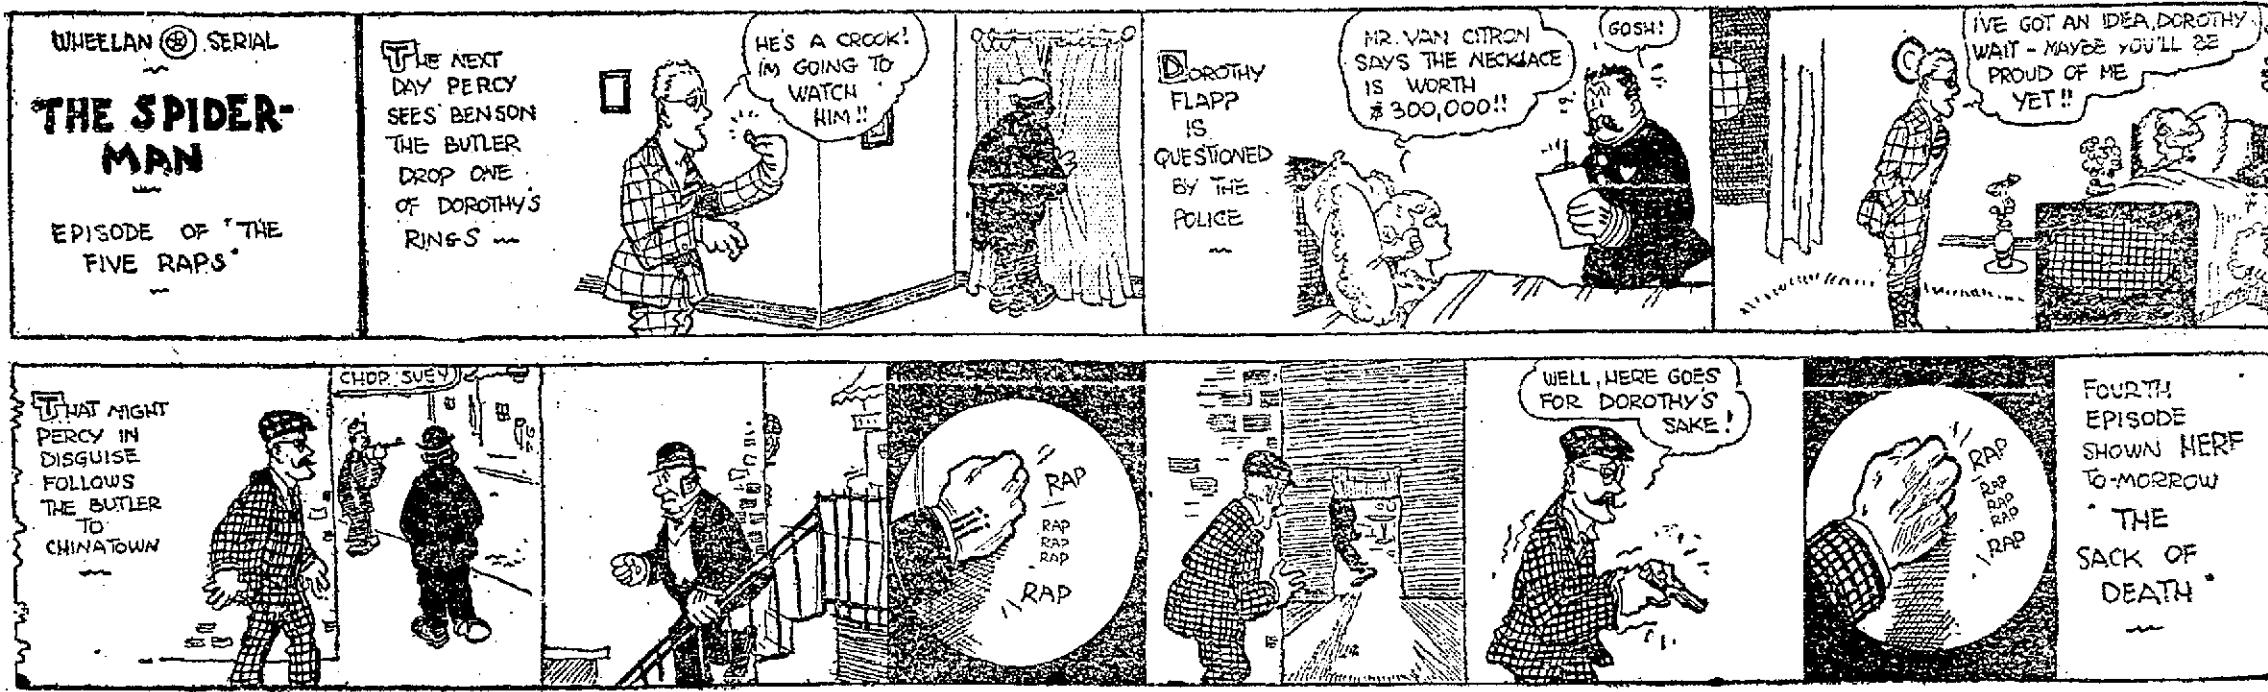

We're just wonderin' if Bill Hays 'll have the nerve to ask for a vacation at $150,000 a year. Most girls couldn't be as bad as they're painted.

PRIVATE RADIO BROADCASTING STATIONS MERGEKLX Not Effected by Change in Program Plans; Big Plant Planned

Radio broadcasting stations of the bay district, now operated by radio trades firms, will be consolidated into one big station, according to plans made yesterday by the broadcasters and the membership of the Pacific Radio Trades Association.

The consolidation will not embrace KLX, the radio station of the Oakland Tribune, nor that of the San Francisco Examiner, KFO. These are the only two newspapers that own and operate their own stations under federal licenses. The new consolidated station will co-operate with these two stations and share the time on a three-way even basis.

PAPERS JOIN PLAN.
Three other newspapers of the bay district have signified their intention of sharing in this plan, and will be permitted to use the stations from which they are now broadcasting are purchased from their present owners and are licensed under the names of the newspapers which wish to share this plan.

These newspapers are the Berkeley Gazette, which now broadcasts from the Claremont Hotel station, owned and operated by the Maxwell Electric company of Berkeley; the San Francisco Bulletin, broadcasting from the Fairmont Hotel station, owned and operated by the Leo J. Meyerberg company, and the Daily News, broadcasting from the transmitting station of Warner Brothers.

The plans, however, as tentatively made, include only KLX and KFO, which at present are the only privately owned and operated radio stations. It is tentatively decided that the newspapers which own and operate their own stations to broadcast independently due to the class of service they are enabled to give the public and which is demanded by the radio fans.

BIG STATION TO RISE.
Simultaneously with the drafting of the plan for a consolidated station, it was announced yesterday that the Radio Corporation of America will immediately erect a high-powered radio broadcasting station in San Francisco, and it will be into this station that the "trade" stations operated by the radio firms will be merged.

This new station will co-operate with the newspaper broadcasting plants in giving a 12-hour program of news and entertainment. Every effort will be made to eliminate duplication and to bring the class of broadcasting up to the highest possible level.

Pending the erection of the new central station, the present stations will continue to broadcast with a slightly altered program. The new program, which will contain several minor changes, will go into effect on September 1, and will be published prior to that date.

Y. M. C. A. to Canvass
For $50,000 Fund

A canvass for funds will be made by the local Y. M. C. A. from September 15 to 25. It will be conducted entirely by Oaklanders without outside assistance. The campaign chairman is R. A. Leet and the director is William Gillanders.

This will be the first time in two years that the local Y. M. C. A. has made an appeal for funds. In September, 1920, the sum of $121,000 was pledged for the requirements of 1920 and 1921. The requirements for the whole of 1922 call for the sum of $50,000.

In connection with the announcement of the coming campaign, officials of the organization stated today that the association works upon the budget system and every cent of expenditure is passed upon in advance and can only be used for the purpose set down in the budget.

Sea Captain Leaves
Estate to Widow

The will of Andrew Michael Birch, captain of the sailing vessel Hyman, which capsized midway between Oakland and Eureka, drowning part of the crew, on May 30, 1922, was filed with the county clerk's office for probate today. Birch, who was one of those who lost their lives when the schooner turned over, had a third interest in the boat, according to the will.

He likewise had an interest in the wharf used to dock the Hyman at Fort Bragg, California. The estate will probably net about $10,000. This will, dated October 8, 1921, stipulated that his entire estate shall revert to his wife, Nanny M. Birch, 2168 Pacific avenue, Alameda.

TRIBUNE RADIO CLUB BANDIT CHASE

SUNDAY, AUGUST 27

FIELD FOR RADIO
'BANDIT' CHASE

Cars Equipped With Receiving Sets Entered in Novel Test

Two more radio-equipped automobiles were added to the list today that will participate in The TRIBUNE'S radio "bandit" chase on Saturday, August 27. They are the demonstrating cars of the Borch Radio Corporation which is to locate in Oakland.

These two cars, both of which have elaborate radio equipment capable of picking up signals at great distances, as well as several others equally equipped, including one to be furnished by the Thomas Day Company, 1720 Broadway, will carry the observers from the Berkeley and Oakland police departments and from the United States Army. The observers will participate in the chase to obtain first-hand information that will help determine the feasibility of radio in police work of this nature.

Only four days remain in which to make application to participate in the test. Those who drive automobiles and who wish to participate must notify the radio editor before Monday, August 21, so that radio apparatus may be provided for the car. Members of The TRIBUNE Radio Club who wish to participate must also send in notification before Monday, so that it will be possible to accommodate them.

Any notification received after next Monday will be filed and if proper accommodations can be made those coming in late will be taken care of. Otherwise they will be unable to participate.

Several hundred have made application to go on the trip, and these will all be taken care of. Members who are not on the list of applicants on the morning the chase starts will find themselves disappointed. The radio department of The TRIBUNE must know in advance in order to provide a sufficient number of automobiles and a sufficient number of radio sets.

Members of the OTRC are reminded of the meeting of the club on Friday evening, August 25, at The TRIBUNE roof garden. J. C. Mahalan, first vice-president and acting president, has requested that every member attend.

LESSON NO. 134.

The Life of a Vacuum Tube.

(Copyright by Edward M. Davis.)
(All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Forbidden.)

When the filament of a vacuum tube is heated to a high temperature the metal volatilizes, that is, turns into a vapor at a rate which is dependent upon the temperature to which the filament is heated. The higher the temperature the faster the filament volatilizes. If the filament is of the metal type the cross section area is continually reduced by the volatilization process with a resulting increase in resistance. In the case of the coated filament, the resistance remains practically constant throughout the life of the tube since the heating current is carried principally by the core of the filament, the oxide coating only evaporating.

If the metal filament is operated at constant voltage throughout its life, as the cross section diminishes there will be an increase in resistance and a consequent decrease in current. A decrease in current means a decrease in the electron stream, which is an undesirable feature. If the filament is operated at constant current rather than at constant voltage the life of the filament will be materially shortened.

The life of a filament of the metal type is also affected by the diameter of the wire of which it is made. The larger sizes of wire having a much longer life than the smaller. Wire filaments may be operated at a high temperature and still last as long as the smaller filament. The life of a filament is greatly shortened by operating at a temperature in excess of the normal temperature. Since it is not convenient to directly measure the temperature of the filament under actual operating conditions it is customary to rate the tube voltage at a temperature in which, of course, will gradually decrease as the filament decreases.

Special Program

The Klick Klub of the Oakland Friends Church will hold a radio meeting next Friday night and, upon request, The TRIBUNE will furnish them with a few numbers of special entertainment from KLX. The Klick Klub consists of boys and men who are interested in radio.

Besides the radio entertainment, Elery Stone, formerly a lieutenant in the United States Navy, will talk on radio. Gregory Cady is chairman of the radio committee.

Walter J. Johnston, overseas veteran who entertained several weeks ago from The TRIBUNE'S radio station, is ill at the Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco. Johnston has entertained several times from radio broadcasting stations in the bay district.

Radio Fans Entertained by Hawaiian Music Sent from KLX Station

Radio fans last night were entertained from KLX, the radio broadcasting station of The TRIBUNE, with a select program of Hawaiian music by Princess Anita and her orchestra, composed of R. C. Garner, Joe Lansing and a quartet of Rolin. The orchestra added much to its reputation last night by the class of music it produced.

"Powerful Katrinka" was at her best modulation, according to reports. And now that almost perfect modulation has been accomplished, "Katrinka" is going to uphold her name. Her reserve strength is to be used. Many of the fans will be surprised to learn that KLX is now operating on the lowest power it is possible to operate with when using the large set. The new set is constructed to accommodate a power of 1,000 watts. This power will eventually be used.

The program for KLX on Friday evening will be by D. T. McEntichson, tenor, accompanied on the piano by Miss Dorothy Cunningham. McEntichson is a pupil of Dr. H. B. Rehling of San Francisco. Miss Cunningham comes from Fresno, where she has entertained before many audiences there as well as elsewhere.

Husband Tells Band's Renewed Effort to Extort Money

W. B. Robins, an employe of the Oakland Street Department, yesterday reported to the police that attempts to extort money and to intimidate his wife, which were made three years ago, were renewed the night before last.

According to Robins, a man called at his home last Monday night, while he was at work, and told Mrs. Robins: "I am the same man who called here three years ago. We will get you yet." The man then jumped into an automobile and disappeared. Mrs. Robins said.

A TO ZED JUNIOR COLLEGE

Regular University Work in Freshman and Sophomore Years, Leading to Junior Standing in the University of California

The purpose of the A-to-Zed Junior College is not only to prepare young men and women to enter the University as Juniors but to prepare them to do distinguished work during their two final years in the University. To accomplish this each class is limited to twelve, class work is supplemented by individual instruction when needed, the work of preparation is carefully supervised and all organized athletic and social distractions are excluded from the College.

The classes parallel similar classes at the University and are conducted by men with University experience in teaching and with not less than two years of post-graduate study to their credit.

IN SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

The city of Seattle and the territory tributary thereto offers a variety of road conditions affecting tire mileage. You have splendid highways, some fairly good and others not so good—the steepness of your hills, especially in the city, must be taken into consideration, too, when considering local commercial service conditions.

In our general office files are certified copies of remarkably consistent performance records of our tires in different types of service in this territory:

In City Commercial Service.
A local concern, operating a fleet of cars and using Savage tires exclusively for the past three years, receives 18,000 to 21,000 miles from Savage tires. The unusually heavy duty performance brands this service as really remarkable and far greater than was previously received from other makes of tires.

A general average of 12,000 miles from our tires, received by another local concern, is an increase of 50% over the highest average mileage previously secured.

On Territorial Runs.
More than 19,000 miles of service as an average from our "SAVAGE" tires.

The experience of a company dealing in tires is the experience of a company dealing in tires. The greater part of this mileage is made off the pavement.

We point with no particular pride to 22,000 miles rendered by our fabric tire in competition with other makes—including cord and fabric tires in territorial service—even though that mileage represents the greatest secured from any make. This we class as an individual record and it does not necessarily prove consistency in general average performance such as we are desirous of showing.

The Savage Cord.
We have incorporated into the Savage Cord seventeen outstanding constructional features that make it an exceedingly superior article.

Placed on the market in the Northwest last year, original tires shipped into your territory are for the most part still in service. We have numerous reports of Savage Cords that are still in operation, having delivered to date 12,000 to 14,000 miles, and even up to 27,000 miles.

Almost any tire will give satisfactory service under ideal conditions. Some makes will even render satisfactory service under certain adverse conditions. Certain makes of tires will perform best on long drives over pavements, other makes will show to better advantage on dirt highways—and so it goes.

Our object has been to build Savage Tires to perform equally well under every condition—on the short haul of the heavily laden commercial car, on the heated roads of the sandy desert, over mud and stones of the land of forests or the broad dirt highways of the plains.

That we have accomplished our purpose is evident from the results users of Savage Tires are getting—everywhere.
